Hungerford Would Like Victoria On National Airways

Airport Needed Here to Give City Link on Trans-Canada Network

C.N.R. President Spends Day Here

Whether Victoria joins the 4,000-mile network of the new Trans-Canada Airlines depends upon the provision of an airport here by the municipal or other responsible authorities.

The issue was put up in this way here today by S. J. Hungerford, chairman and president of Canadian National Railways and president of Trans-Canada Airlines, who paid a short visit to the city, accompanied by officials of the railway and airways.

In a half-hour interview with the Times at the Empress Hotel, when he chatted freely about Canada's new venture into trans-continental air service, Mr. Hungerford was asked what could be done to link Victoria with the service.

"We would like to give service to Victoria," he said, "but as yet you have no airport."

He said that while Trans-Canada Airlines took no part in the actual establishment of airports if there was any way in which it could facilitate such a development he would be only too pleased to assist.

Mr. Hungerford explained that the Department of Transport was the body handling airports. It was providing the emergency landing fields and helping municipalities with their airports.

"Our turn comes when an airport is established," he said. "We can then lease the necessary space for our services, but we have no concern in developing the port itself."

"If and when an airport is established in Victoria we would be interested in leasing space," Mr. Hungerford, accompanied by his officials and Alderman Archie Willis, chairman of the city's airport committee, went out to Patricia Bay today to view the site of the new military airdrome.

He mentioned that on his last visit here when local bodies were exercised about airport facilities, he had noted the only place where there was a sizable tract of flat land suitable for the purpose was in the Patricia Bay-Sidney region.

"It is a little way from town," he added, "but there are good roads out to it."

The Canadian National was interested in the new site, he said, as it held some of the land at Patricia Bay.

FIFTH HEAD IS PROMOTED

Lieut.-Colonelcy For Vincent McKenna Announced at Ottawa

Promotion of Major Vincent McKenna, new commanding officer of the Fifth (B.C.) Coast Brigade, Royal Canadian Artillery, to the rank of lieutenant-colonel, was announced by the Department of National Defence at Ottawa over the week-end.

Lieut.-Col. McKenna took over the command of the brigade, oldest military unit in western Canada, February 1, on the retirement of Lieut.-Col. M. Aubrey Kent.

His connection with the unit has been a long one. He joined it during the Great War, then went to Kingston, Ont., for artillery training and qualified for his lieutenantcy there. He served overseas with the 15th Brigade and earned the Military Cross for distinguished service.

On his return from France he rejoined the 5th Brigade, still with the rank of lieutenant. Since the war Lieut.-Col. McKenna has commanded both field and coast defence units, and for the last eight years has been (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

Eastern Company Purchases Interest in Privateer Property at Zeballos

Announcement was made today by D. S. Tait, secretary of Privateer Mine Ltd., that Connell Mining and Exploration Co. Ltd. of Eastern Canada has purchased a one-quarter interest in the Privateer mine, one of the sensational properties in the new Zeballos River goldfield on Vancouver Island.

The sum involved, said Mr. Tait, is "about $370,000." The purchase is on an option basis, to be completed within this year. The new capital will be turned into development work as it is needed.

Sixty men are now employed at the mine.

Manion, M. A. MacPherson and Meighen Favored For Conservative Leadership

OTTAWA (CP)—Political soothsayers in this capital gazed into the crystal today, seeking the name of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett's successor as leader of the Conservative Party. Mr. Bennett announced Saturday his irrevocable determination to retire owing to impaired heart action.

His announcement came at a session of a two-day national conference during which the party decided to call a national convention here as soon as possible after Parliament prorogues.

To recommend to that convention a new party name, "National Conservative," and to elect a leader to replace the veteran Mr. Bennett, who was named at a convention in 1927 in Winnipeg. Meanwhile Mr. Bennett will carry on.

Whether the Conservative leader, Prime Minister from 1930 to the fall of 1935, will retire from politics altogether, he did not say. If he does he will end his political career 42 years after it began in Northumberland County, N.B., when he was elected to the municipal council.

Homes and Cars Upset in California's Floods

Scenes like the above are common throughout southern California in the wake of the worst flood the area has suffered in 25 years. The known deaths total 183 and damage to property is estimated at $65,000,000. While streams ran through streets and washed homes from their foundations, the entire city of Los Angeles was isolated for a time. This view, taken in Burbank, shows a roadbed gutted by a raging torrent, an automobile and a house dropped into the cut.

Baseball Club Head Passes

NEW YORK—Stephen W. McKeever, 85-year-old president of the Brooklyn National League baseball club, died early today of pneumonia at his home in Brooklyn. He had been ill a week.

Connected with the club for more than a quarter-century, McKeever had been president since 1932, when Frank B. York resigned in a Dodge reorganization.

Oldest president in the National League, McKeever was the central figure in the storm that had raged over Brooklyn management for nearly 15 years, between McKeever and the 15 heirs of the late Charles H. Ebbets.

REPAID LOAN
McKeever first became associated with the Dodgers in 1912, when Ebbets, a power in the club's affairs since the '80's, gave him and his brother, the late Edward J. McKeever, a half interest in the club in consideration of a loan which helped the Brooklyn club out of financial difficulty.

In 1925, when Ed McKeever and Ebbets died within a few months of each other, internal dissension began in the Dodge front office. It has lasted ever since. At that time, Ed McKeever's interest passed to Stephen McKeever, and the Ebbets share of the club was divided among Ebbets' heirs.

Army Honors At MacBrien Funeral

Military Ceremony For Late R.C.M.P. Head in Toronto; Burial in Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The funeral of the late Sir James H. MacBrien will be held with full military honors Tuesday afternoon. The body will be buried in Beechwood Cemetery here. A service will be held in Christ Church Cathedral at 2:30 p.m.

Sir James, Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, died in Toronto Saturday night.

He is survived by the widow, the former Evelyn Hartridge of New York, whom he married in 1926, and three sons and three daughters. His first wife died in 1922.

Prime Minister King sent a telegram of condolence to Lady MacBrien.

TORONTO (CP)—Old comrades of Sir James MacBrien, men who fought with him in two wars and who followed him in the days when the Royal North-west Mounted Police brought law and order to Canada's frontiers, today termed his death a national loss.

Murray Levine Believes Peter Alive, But Ransom Efforts Fail

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—Murray Levine, father of kidnapped 12-year-old Peter Levine, said today he believed his son was still alive, despite continued failure to make actual contact with the abductors. He also said he believed he was dealing with the true kidnappers.

Loyalists Score Heavily in Naval Battle Off South-east Spain

MADRID (AP)—Destruction of a 10,000-ton insurgent cruiser in a naval clash off Cartagena left a gaping hole today in the insurgent fleet blockade of Spanish government ports.

It had not been determined definitely here whether the warship torpedoed, bombed and set afire was the Canarias or the Baleares—sister cruisers.

British Admiralty reports received from the destroyers Kempenfeld and Boreas, which rescued more than 400 survivors from the cruiser, said it was the Baleares. Each cruiser's crew strength is 765 men and loss of life on the torpedoed cruiser was believed severe.

The loss was regarded by jubilant Spanish government authorities as certain to decrease the insurgents' chance of effectively enforcing their blockade of the Spanish Mediterranean coast. The government fleet returned unharmed to its Cartagena base.

CHANCE ENCOUNTER
The engagement, which may have an important effect on the outcome of the Spanish civil war, resulted from a chance encounter of government and insurgent fleets Sunday about 70 miles from the port of Cartagena.

The cruiser was struck amid (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

LOGGERS GO BACK TO JOBS

Many Island Camps Rendered Idle Through Snow Are Reopening

Loggers are swarming back into the woods of British Columbia now as the big coast logging camps resume operations. For a month the largest part of the coast timber industry has been at a standstill, kept idle by three and four feet of snow in the timber. Now the snow is melting fast and loggers can work again.

During the next week or two most of the idle camps of Vancouver Island will reopen. A few which were closed by last month's snowfall are at work again already.

Some 3,000 loggers, who have been out of jobs since the beginning of the year, with the exception of a brief period of employment before the snow came, will find steady work from now on, if the timber industry is able to operate normally during the spring season. For the present most camps will not operate to full capacity because there is insufficient demand for timber in world markets. Total employment in the timber industry thus will be less this spring than last year, unless improving market conditions make a larger log production possible.

COAL BILL VOTED

LONDON (CP)—After many days of sharp battle in committee, the government coal bill awaits final reading in the Commons. Then the stage will change to the House of Lords.

ARCHBISHOP PASSES HERE

Most Rev. H. J. O'Leary of Edmonton Died Saturday After Long Illness

Most Rev. Henry Joseph O'Leary, 59, Archbishop of Edmonton, who had been ill in St. Joseph's Hospital for some months, died suddenly at the hospital, Saturday evening at 9. He had recently made a trip to Honolulu for his health, returning to Victoria three weeks ago.

A year ago, when poor health forced him to give up some of his duties, Bishop J. H. MacDonald of Victoria was named his coadjutor and now becomes Archbishop of Edmonton.

Two weeks ago Archbishop O'Leary took part in the ceremony of dedication of the new Memorial Chapel in St. Andrew's Cathedral. At that service he carried the crozier once used by Bishop Demers, first Bishop of Victoria.

Archbishop O'Leary was born in Richibucto, New Brunswick, March 13, 1879. After a grammar school education he made a brilliant record in classics at the University of St. Joseph at Memramcook. He was ordained in Holy Orders in his native parish church in 1901 and held parishes in New Brunswick before being named Bishop of Charlottetown in 1913. Then, in 1920, he was appointed to Edmonton as archbishop.

He had studied in his younger days in Italy and France, majoring in theology, and did post-graduate work at Rome and at the Sorbonne in Paris.

IN CHARLOTTETOWN
He did great work at Charlottetown, rebuilt the cathedral and bishop's residence after a disastrous fire and developed St. Dunstan's College into a university, and carried the church's work into many varied spheres.

In Edmonton he again turned his attention especially to educational development and directed (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

MRS. QUANTON PASSES AWAY

Widow of Dean of Columbia Died Yesterday in England

Less than two weeks after the death of her husband, Very Rev. C. S. Quanton, former Dean of Columbia, Mrs. Minnie Quanton passed away at Ruislip, Buckinghamshire, England, yesterday, according to a cable received in the city.

LATE MRS. C. S. QUANTON

First intimation of her illness was received by her son, Eric Quanton on Saturday morning. The announcement of her death was made by Bishop Sexton from the pulpit at last night's service at Christ Church Cathedral, and came as a great shock to the congregation.

No particulars as to her illness having been received, it is assumed that the shock of her husband's death affected Mrs. Quanton's heart, which was never very strong. It is probable that her ashes will be cremated and brought to Victoria with those of the late Dean.

Mrs. Quanton was born in England and, with her two sons, (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Winter Golf Play Opens At Colwood

Ideal Weather For Empress Tournament; W. P. Bowden Leads Early Scorers

With brilliant sunshine flooding the beautiful Colwood course the tenth annual Empress Hotel winter golf tournament got under way today. The competition has attracted one of the largest entry lists in history, and includes 76 out-of-town players, 49 men and 27 women.

Play this morning was confined to the 18-hole men's qualifying round for the handicap championship and Sir E. W. Beatty Trophy. Leader among the early scorers was W. P. Bowden, Oak Bay, with a net 71. He went around in 79 and played to an eight handicap. His 79 was also the best gross score.

Two strokes behind were four players, including R. Scott-Moncrieff, J. P. Paret and George Wilder, all of Victoria, and L. Papineau of Montreal. Tied with 74s were R. H. B. Ker and W. Brockie, Edmonton, and H. U. Johnstone, Camrose, Alta. In the 75 group were Ross W. Hocking and Dr. F. E. Fowler, Astoria, Ore.

Ernie Ketchum, low handicap player from Seattle, posted a net 76, as did Jimmy Simpson.

LONDON (CP and AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that if the vital peace talks with Italy and Germany, opening this week, should fail, Great Britain would speed up her already gigantic rearmament program.

But, he said, if the negotiations should succeed disarmament would follow in due course.

The Conservative majority repeatedly cheered the Prime Minister as he explained his policy of rearming and at the same time trying to prevent Europe drifting "toward the cataract of war" by means of frank talks with the leaders of Italy and Germany.

HAS NO BIAS

Answering opposition charges that he was biased in favor of the dictatorships, Mr. Chamberlain, in a fighting speech, replied:

"I have to deal with a world in which dictatorships exist. I have no interest in other systems of government except in so far as they react on other countries. I have no bias in favor of Nazism, Fascism or Bolshevism, because all of them seem to be inconsistent with what is all-important to me because it is the root of my political creed—that is, individual liberty."

"For the preservation of democracy," Mr. Chamberlain declared, "I would fight myself, and I believe the people of this country would fight."

CALLED COURSE

"The course we are pursuing by putting forward our present program is the surest way of avoiding the dread necessity of fighting at all."

"Subject to reasonable restriction, I believe in liberty of thought and action, without which there can be no true democracy. I do not believe democracy need necessarily be less efficient than other systems of government. It may sometimes lag behind in making its decisions, but democracy can do what no dictatorship can afford to do—democracy can afford to make mistakes."

Denying opposition charges he had adopted a "peace at any price" policy, Mr. Chamberlain said:

"Although we shall not cease our efforts for amelioration of (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5) came to Canada in 1914 to join her husband at Brandon, Manitoba, shortly after his appointment to the Anglican Church there. From 1917 until her departure for England with the Dean last year, she had resided in Victoria.

A woman of rather shy and retiring nature, but of wide and generous sympathies, Mrs. Quanton was essentially a home-lover, and, outside of her home and family, her chief interest lay in the women's activities connected with the cathedral.

An indefatigable worker in the Columbia's Women's Auxiliary, she was its president for about six years, and latterly its honorary vice-president. She was also a valued member of the Parish Women's Guild.

Mrs. Quanton is survived by her two sons, Eric in Victoria and Eden, of the faculty of the University of Washington, Seattle, and three grandchildren.

Japan Declared To Be Tired of War

China's Resistance Is Great Puzzle to Leaders, Says A.P. Correspondent

By RELMAN MORIN, Associated Press Foreign Staff
TOKIO—Japan is tired of the war, which was eight months old Sunday. Also she is quietly alarmed.

The war has brought victory to the Japanese army, perplexity to the Japanese government, a strait-jacket to the Japanese business man and mixed emotions, but chiefly boredom, to the Japanese public.

Despite a succession of military defeats, including the loss of the capital, Nanking, China appears to be as belligerent as ever. Her leaders have told the world they would not even consider a peace that did not include complete withdrawal of Japanese troops from Chinese soil.

SHARP DILEMMA

Japan did not expect such intransigence. China, far from collapsing, still is on her feet and fighting. For Japan, it is a dilemma with sharp horns.

She either can push deeper across Asia's vast, sprawling, dusty-yellow stretches, spending more blood and money in an effort to control 400,000,000 submissively hostile people.

Or she can retreat to the coastal area without having achieved her avowed objectives—"to uproot Communism from China, chastise the anti-Japanese element in the Chinese government and win China's friendship."

Neutral observers offer varying explanations of this war. Three different schools of analysis believe:

1. That Japan is fighting a "preventive" war to forestall the unifying influences that were modernizing and strengthening China.

2. That Japanese big business, frightened by the ambition of the Japanese army in domestic politics, "gave" this war to the army to keep it occupied.

3. That China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, when he was kidnapped last year by leaders of powerful Chinese anti-Japanese forces, paid his ransom with a promise of full-fledged war with Japan.

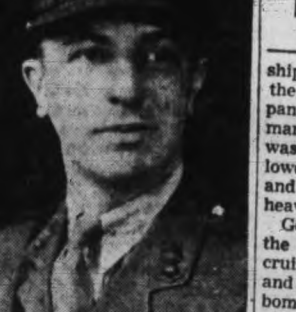

Japan poured men into the mainland until she had a million troops under arms. Not all went to the China fronts. Between 75,000 and 100,000 went to strengthen the already formidable garrisons in Manchukuo along the Siberian border in case Russia should throw her weight into the balance.

Lieut.-Col. N. C. Dingle promoted colonel and commander of Third Infantry Brigade, Calgary.

Assistant Commissioner Wood has been acting commissioner for the past few months.

VON CRAMM IN GERMAN JAIL

Tennis Player Faces Serious Charges, State Reich Police

BERLIN (AP)—Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany's great tennis player, was arrested today by the criminal police on "serious charges."

While admitting Von Cramm had been arrested, police headquarters declined to divulge the nature of the charges. It was admitted authoritatively later, however, he had been taken into custody on "suspicion of moral delinquencies."

The tennis star arrived home only a few days ago after a worldwide competitive tour.

Another dispatch said the authorities qualified Von Cramm's "arrest" by stating he had been summoned to police headquarters "for clarification and examination, pending which he was held in custody."

Now 28 years old, Baron von Cramm has been listed in the "first 10" of world tennis players since 1932. He was placed second to Fred Perry in the world rankings for 1936 and second to Don Budge last year. With his doubles partner, Henner Henkel, he won the United States doubles title last year.

Von Cramm won the German championship four times and the French title twice and reached the final round at Wimbledon three times, losing to Perry in 1935 and 1936 and to Budge last year.

ships by a torpedo fired from the government destroyer Le-panto as the insurgent warships manoeuvred in battle line. There was a tremendous explosion, followed by an outbreak of flames and the vessel began to list heavily.

Government aircraft increased the damage by strafing the cruiser with machine gun fire and peppering it with incendiary bombs.

One British sailor, Able Seaman George Long, was killed and eight others wounded slightly when a government plane dropped a bomb near the destroyer Boreas while it was engaging in rescue work.

Eight vessels were in the insurgent fleet, led by the cruisers Almirante Cervera, Canarias and Baleares.

The Baleares was completed in 1932 and the Canarias in 1931, the two being the newest warships in Spanish hands.

Reports reaching the Spanish frontier at Perpignan predicted that if the Spanish government fleet were able to hold its own hereafter, instead of being forced to take refuge in port, the outcome of the war might be affected by the government being able to obtain more war supplies. The government has blamed its defeat around Teruel on the insurgents being able to import superior war equipment.

the European position, it ought to be known that our desire for peace does not signify willingness to purchase peace today at the price of peace hereafter, nor can we forget our moral responsibility to our people or to humanity in general.

"We cannot divest ourselves of an interest in the world. Quarrels which begin in a limited area are of deep concern to us if they should be the starting point of a general conflagration."

Mr. Chamberlain opened a full-dress debate on national defence with a demand for a vote of confidence.

The whole country was determined to carry through the five-year rearmament plan to the finish, the Prime Minister declared. Last week the government announced the original estimate of £1,500,000,000 ($7,500,000,000) for this program probably would be exceeded.

The debate was based on the government's white paper of March 2, which estimated the armament costs at £35,750,000 for the year April 1, 1938, to March 31, 1939.

Both the Labor and Liberal opposition parties introduced amendments, asserting that rearmament was excusable only if used to reinforce a policy of collective security, which some of Mr. Chamberlain's recent statements, expressing doubts of the effectiveness of the League of Nations, had appeared to abandon.

Praising Great Britain's "economic stability," Mr. Chamberlain said it was a "powerful deterrent against attack." He continued:

"Unless a nation can feel it possible to knock out its opponent by a sudden blow—and recent experience is not very encouraging to that theory—then the strongest people may hesitate to risk a struggle with a country whose staying power may indefinitely prolong its resistance."

Repeating the disclosure in last week's white paper that £1,500,000,000 would not be enough to finance the five-year plan, Mr. Chamberlain said:

"It is too soon to say what figure can be substituted, but I am afraid the House must expect a substantial advance upon it. I need not impress upon you the gravity of these figures or the prospects which lie before us if no alleviation of the situation can be obtained."

Mr. Chamberlain expressed his earnest hope for the success of our efforts for European appeasement, to be followed in due course by disarmament—"referring to the impending negotiations with Rome and Berlin. But he continued:

"Meantime we can not afford any relaxation of our efforts (to ward rearmament), and if indeed in the end we should in spite of all fail to re-establish confidence and peace, we shall not hesitate to revise our programs or the rate of their acceleration, being confident we shall have in doing so the support of the country, whatever may be the sacrifices demanded of them."

Cheers came from the government benches.

CHIEF OBJECTIVES

Mr. Chamberlain, who spoke for an hour, said near the end of his address:

"All this enormous, almost terrifying power that Britain is building up has a steady, sobering effect on the nations of the world. Everyone knows this force is not going to be used for aggression."

Mr. Chamberlain gave as the primary objectives of British rearmament:

1. To protect Britain;
2. To preserve the trade routes on which Britain has to depend for food and raw materials;
3. Defence of British territory overseas;
4. Co-operation in the defence of any allies Britain might have.

was the primary objective because unless the security of Britain could be maintained her defeat was certain.

He referred to Earl Baldwin's declared intention to make Britain as strong in the air as any country within striking distance of her shores. Whether that objective had been attained, Mr. Chamberlain did not disclose, but "we are satisfied we are making the most effective use of our resources."

LEAGUE OF NATIONS

On the League of Nations he threw a challenge back at Labor.

"What small nation in Europe today," he demanded, "if threatened by a larger one, can rely on the League alone against invasion? I challenge the honorable members opposite to give an answer. I will give an answer myself. There is none."

Why, Mr. Chamberlain continued, try to persuade small nations they can rely on peace when there is no peace? Why mislead them by giving them an assurance of security when such assurances are only a delusion?

"The ideals of the League are grand and magnificent," the Prime Minister declared. "I shall never believe they are not attainable. But we shall not bring them nearer by pretending they are within our grasp when they require prolonged and sustained effort to attain them. In all such efforts His Majesty's government will take a full share."

The Labor benches cheered ironically.

Britain could not divest herself of her interest in world peace. Quarrels which began in a limited area were of deep concern if they should prove to be the starting point in a general conflagration.

BY NEGOTIATION

"While we have no desire to embark on needless interference with other people's affairs, we shall from time to time think it our duty to raise our voice on behalf of peaceful negotiation rather than the use of force and threats of power. We shall have the more confidence doing that, because we are convinced our aims command the sympathy, for the most part, of the world."

Mr. Chamberlain stood by democracy.

Alberta Acts To Privy Council

Aberhart Expects Dominion to Send Bills to Highest Court

EDMONTON (CP)—Reference of the "whole question" to the Privy Council in London appeared to be the next step, Premier Aberhart told the Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference Sunday night in speaking of the Supreme Court of Canada judgments ruling against Alberta legislation and on constitutional questions.

Mr. Aberhart said Prime Minister King had been quoted as saying the judgments would be taken to the privy council for a final ruling.

"I expect he will go through with it," said Premier Aberhart. The Supreme Court of Canada last Friday found the Credit Regulation Act, the Bank Tax Act, the Press Regulation Act unconstitutional, and upheld the federal power of disallowance and the right of Lieutenant-Governors to refer legislation for the signification of the Governor-General's pleasure.

Declaring he was "merely expressing surprise" at the judgments, Mr. Aberhart said they were apparently based on the finding that an act not referred to the court was unconstitutional.

He was referring to the Social Credit Act, which, although not mentioned in the formal reference to the court, was considered and declared unconstitutional.

Using the same method, the court could declare many pieces of legislation unconstitutional, he declared. A cure for economic conditions was required, said the Premier.

Mackenzie Speaks In Edmonton

Social Credit Crumbling, Federal Minister Tells By-election Audience

EDMONTON (CP)—Alberta's Social Credit is "crumbling," in the opinion of Hon. Ian Mackenzie.

Chief speaker at the first large public meeting of the March 21 Edmonton East federal by-election campaign, the Minister of National Defence, delivered an address Saturday night in support of R. C. Marshall, Liberal candidate.

"Fantastic theories pursued by Social Credit have retarded for years and years the efforts of those who have labored for honest monetary reform," Mr. Mackenzie asserted.

"Social Credit is crumbling, but let us not lose our enthusiasm for sound monetary and financial reform."

"Not in one single detail nor on one occasion did the Liberal government interfere with Alberta until the Social Credit government had been in office two years," he said. "Social Credit leaders had promised they would accomplish their aims in 18 months."

"The federal government disallowed Alberta acts, not only because they were unconstitutional, but also because they interfered seriously with functions of the federal government. The acts were referred to the Supreme Court at the request of Premier Aberhart himself."

"Because these acts may go to a higher tribunal, I won't say any more about them," the minister added, referring to the possibility three acts ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Canada last Friday might be referred to the Privy Council in London. The acts dealt with credit regulation, bank taxes and newspapers.

Mr. Mackenzie defended the record and achievements of federal Liberal administration and declared "election of Mr. Marshall will mean Alberta is ready to co-operate with the rest of Canada. A Social Credit victory would indicate this province wishes to continue to isolate itself."

The Dominion Government believes there was an unequal distribution of purchasing power rather than a shortage, and "this situation must be remedied," he said.

Referring to national defence measures, Mr. Mackenzie said: "There is no suggestion of aggression or extraneous activity in Canada's present program of increased national defence. The government's only thought is to provide some measure of protection for coast lines and trade routes. We owe it to our selves to defend our homes if we are attacked."

James A. MacKinnon, Liberal member of the House of Commons for Edmonton West, and Mr. Marshall also addressed the gathering.

ARMY HONORS AT MACBRIEN FUNERAL

The 59-year-old Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who turned the "scarlet riders" of the plains into a model of modern mechanical efficiency and himself qualified as an airplane pilot at the age of 50, died in a hospital here Saturday night after a two-month illness.

Major-Gen. MacBrien entered hospital last December 15. After undergoing an operation for an internal ailment, he appeared to be rallying until two weeks ago, when he suffered a relapse and steadily grew weaker. Lady MacBrien was at the bedside when death came.

TRIBUTE FROM LAPOINTE

Many tributes came from those who knew and worked with Sir James. Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, under whose department the R.C.M.P. policies most of the Dominion, said Sir James had three sterling qualities, "devotion to duty, honesty of purpose and fearlessness."

Full military honors were accorded the late Sir James at a funeral service in St. Paul's Anglican Church here this afternoon. Escorted by a detachment of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, the body was borne on a gun carriage through downtown Toronto to the Union Station, where it was placed aboard a train for Ottawa, where burial will take place.

CAREER PRAISED

VANCOUVER (CP)—Men who fought with Sir James MacBrien in two wars and who followed his career afterwards in civil life today paid tribute to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Commissioner, who died in Toronto Saturday night.

Col. W. W. Foster, president of the Canadian Legion, said: "Sir James MacBrien's great characteristic was thoroughness in whatever he undertook, whether as a leader on the field of battle, as chief of staff at Ottawa, in his contribution to aeronautics and command of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. In the midst of an ever-busy life his old comrades were never forgotten, and he was interested on that account in the Canadian Legion."

Other officers here who paid tributes were Brig-Gen. J. A. Clark, Vancouver, former officer commanding the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders; Brig-Gen. H. T. Hughes, R.C.E., who was with the 4th Division, C.E.F., and Col. H. M. Urquhart, Victoria, former commander of the 16th Battalion, C.E.F.; Brig-Gen. Victor W. Odium, who commanded the 11th Brigade, C.E.F., during the Great War; and Maj-Gen. Edward Hillman, former general officer commanding 10th Canadian Infantry Brigade.

James Howden MacBrien was born June 30, 1878, at Myrtle, Ont., of Irish parentage, and attended the Port Perry High School. He joined the old 34th Ontario Regiment and was a militiaman three years before he succumbed to the lure of the western force and enlisted as a constable in the R.N.W.M.P. in 1900.

Later that year he volunteered for service in the South African campaign, and was with the South African Constabulary until 1906. Returning to Canada, he was given a commission in the Royal Canadian Dragoons. In 1907 he was selected as an exchange officer with Australia, and there he spent two years on instructional duties with the Australian Light Horse in Victoria, New South Wales and Queensland.

SERVED IN FRANCE

Coming back to Canada he was appointed adjutant of his regiment, the R.C.D.'s, and for four years was administrative and regimental officer. In 1912 he qualified for entrance to the Staff College, and when the Great War broke out was called to the War Office. When Canada's first contingent reached Salisbury Plain late in 1914 he joined it and was attached to the divisional staff as deputy assistant adjutant and quartermaster-general.

He went to France on active service in February, 1915, and was there till the Armistice. He won the D.S.O. in the second battle of Ypres, and served as divisional staff officer during the actions of Festubert and Givenchy.

In October, 1915, the Canadian Corps was formed with the arrival of the second division in France, and he became assistant quartermaster-general of the corps. Some months later he was transferred to the third division, and in September, 1916, was given command of the 12th Brigade of the fourth division. He directed operations of the 12th Brigade through 1917 and 1918.

He did not escape unscathed from his war experiences. He was wounded in action at Vimy Ridge in April, 1917, and again during the assault on the Drocourt-Queant line in September, 1918.

After the Armistice, Brig-Gen. MacBrien was recalled to England and served on two important committees of the War Office—reorganization of the land forces and Imperial defence. In the subsequent months he succeeded Lieut-Gen. Sir Richard Turner, V.C., in command of the Canadian forces in England, with the complicated task of repatriating Canadian troops. He was promoted major-general, and became chief of the general staff overseas for the Canadian forces.

WAS INSPECTOR-GENERAL

He returned to Canada in June,

1920, and succeeded General Sir Arthur Currie as inspector-general. When that office was merged with that of chief of staff, he became the first chief of the general staff of the Department of National Defence. He retired from the Canadian permanent forces on pension in 1928.

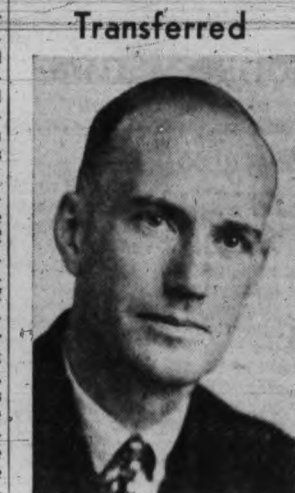

Knighted in 1935, he had previously been honored with the award of the Companionship of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, and he earned the D.S.O. and bar and the French Legion of Honor for his services in France.

Recalled from retirement after a brilliant war record and eight years' staff service at Ottawa, Maj-Gen. MacBrien, in 1931, was appointed commissioner of the Dominion's greatly enlarged police force, succeeding the late Colonel Cortlandt Starnes. The force over which he assumed command was augmented still further when the government turned over to it duties previously carried out by the Customs preventive service.

MARINE SECTION

Under the new commissioner's direction a marine section was added to the R.C.M.P. The swift cruisers Macdonald and Laurier were launched at Quebec June 25, 1936, to chase contraband runners and other law offenders on the Atlantic coast and St. Lawrence Gulf, or to rush to sea on hazardous attempts to rescue those aboard distressed vessels.

Jurisdiction of the force expanded from the Atlantic to the Pacific and northward from the Canada-United States boundary to the weather-scarred, ice-bound islands on the Arctic. New demands were made constantly on its resources as the rush progressed for the buried riches of the inhospitable North.

Newspapers With Sound Planned

New Method for Producing Talking Journals Is Announced in New York

NEW YORK (CP)—A new method for producing a talking newspaper was reported at the week-end in Editor and Publisher, journalistic trade magazine. The device, by which a sound track can be produced on ordinary newsprint and the human voice reproduced from the track by means of an inexpensive machine in the home, was invented by W. G. H. Finch of New York.

The invention not only promises to be useful for children too young to read, and for illiterates and blind persons, but also holds the seed of a revolutionary change in the newspaper industry, according to Editor and Publisher.

Mr. Finch said a newspaper could buy for $1,000 to $1,500 a master recording machine which would produce the visible sound track. From the visible sound track, a plate would be made to be inserted in the regular newspaper makeup.

The sound would be reproduced by means of a reproducer which, Mr. Finch said, could be manufactured for as low as $25 apiece, providing volume production was great enough. The producer, measuring about nine inches long and five inches square, includes scanning equipment made up of a light source to be focused on the printed sound track and a photo-electric cell sensitive to the varying light intensities refracted from a record, or newspaper.

A preamplifier is associated with the photo-electric cell to amplify the electrical signals generated by the cell. The output of the preamplifier is amplified further by connecting the reproducer with any radio loudspeaker, through a patented device.

Many Enter For Oratory Contest

A large number of prospective entries for the Metropolitan Y.P. Oratorical Trophy has been filed, it was announced by Ed. Browning. The two winners of this contest, which will occur on March 15, will represent the Metropolitan Society at the Young People's League oratorical contest on March 18.

L. Cannon, president, announced that the group conveners will be in charge of the interdenominational sing-song at the Y.M.C.A. on March 20.

Tomorrow evening at 8 the young people will meet in the Sunday school hall, Miss D. Howard announced today, when Miss Josephine Cook predicted another record attendance at the reorganized meeting.

Mr. Bennett

ALTHOUGH IT HAD BEEN GENERALLY reported that several consulting specialists were convinced there was nothing organically wrong with Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, it is obvious now that the leader of the Conservative party of Canada since 1927 feels it incumbent upon him to subject his activities to "drastic limitations." On this account, not because he is not as young as he used to be or reveals any less in political battle, he told his followers at the party conference in Ottawa on Saturday that the time had come for him to stand aside and make way for his successor.

Seven years ago last August, Mr. Bennett became Prime Minister of Canada, with a following of 137 supporters in a House of Commons of 245 members. He had sufficient political voting strength to carry out such policies as he considered were necessary for the Dominion. In the preceding election campaign the Canadian people were given a fairly comprehensive idea of what those policies would be. Premier King indicated plainly that if the voters of this country chose to replace him by electing the leader of the Conservative party, they would be running a grave risk of endangering the obvious benefits which had accrued to Canada from the policies which had been operating since the advent of the Liberal regime in 1921.

The verdict of the polls in 1930 showed that the majority of the electors thought it wise to give Mr. Bennett the opportunity for which he had asked. They believed in him; they thought it was "time for a change." That was at a period when the external trade of the country was at its highest peak in history, when most of the people of the Dominion were enjoying a measure of prosperity which manifested itself in every direction. The change was brought about. Five years later Mr. Bennett was called upon to render an account of his stewardship. What happened in those five years is too well known to require but the briefest recapitulation. Suffice it to say that after less than three years of Conservative government the trade of Canada had dropped to the level of pre-war time—to approximately $900,000,000, from $2,600,000,000. After less than three years, under the government of Mr. Mackenzie King, it has been brought back again to the $2,000,000,000 mark. The present government at Ottawa, incidentally, is enjoying a majority in the House of Commons never before equalled, and which is hardly likely to be equalled again.

We do not refer to this phase of the leadership of the party which Mr. Bennett now has relinquished from the purely political standpoint. We refer to it because it serves to show that the man who was Prime Minister from 1930 to 1935 did not follow the right course. He would not have the right to call himself a Canadian, however, who did not pay full tribute to Mr. Bennett's sterling Canadianism. All through that campaign in 1930 he put Canada first. His sincerity of purpose was never questioned. Not for a moment did he depart from what he believed to be in his country's best interests. He was mistaken. He has very probably realized it since. But what have been his innermost thoughts recently we may never be allowed to know.

We, of course, do not subscribe to Mr. Bennett's political philosophy. The country as a whole—if manifestation of public feeling means anything—has swung definitely from policies which place the interest of the few before the general well-being of the masses. Mr. Bennett was brought up in a school of political thought which left a wide gap between himself and the great majority of the Canadian people. Yet it is to his personal credit that he did not deviate from the course he mapped out for himself. However, it is to be hoped that his health will permit him to remain in the House of Commons, because his contributions in debate still will be valuable.

The Intolerable Inch

JUST AS IF THERE WERE NOT ENOUGH transitions in this changing world, what with so many of our cherished illusions toppling, now the Bureau of Standards at Washington is going to divide the inch up into a million parts and lop off two of the parts.

Why? Well, it seems, to quote Dr. Lyman J. Briggs, director, the difference between the length of the inch in America and in Great Britain is "intolerable."

That is, the inch on this continent is now 25.40005 millimetres and the bureau will lop off the 5 and make the inch measure exactly 25.4 millimetres. Of course, this still does not bring the inch exactly down to scale with the British inch, which measures only 25.39996 millimetres, but presumably the difference of .00004 millimetre is tolerable, whereas a difference of .00009 millimetre is not.

In these days of travail this is something different to worry about. Nothing is stable, nothing dependable, nothing constant. But Dr. Briggs says not to fret. It will not affect ordinary folks a bit, he declares.

Golfing in the Sun

THE ANNUAL GOLFING CLASSIC which got under way at the Royal Colwood Golf Club this morning is called the Empress Hotel Winter Golf Tournament. We do not propose to make any excuses for the fact that if it had been called a "summer" affair this year it would not have been a misnomer in meteorological fact. But no matter what we say about the weather—the opening day could not have been more propitious—the calendar has only "played" one of the weeks in March, and there are still three—and "the bye"—to "go."

The event now in progress is the tenth of its kind. The other nine have been played a little earlier in the winter, and on one or two occasions the weatherman was not on his most pleasant behaviour. But, and let our friends farther afield mark this well, nine previous tournaments have been highly successful. They have been held on the advertised date in February and played out to the end. This year's tournament, however, has begun, not only in summer-like weather, but with a record entry list numbering participants and visitors from many parts of Canada and the United States.

To all those golfing enthusiasts who have come to Victoria for this popular winter classic the citizens of this community extend a hearty welcome, coupling with it a repetition of congratulations to the Empress Hotel management in particular, and the C.P.R. for keeping this annual fixture to the fore.

Italy Not Feared

ONE OF THE LONDON ECONOMISTS' editors participating in a University of Chicago radiocast round-table yesterday on British policy, emphasized the fact that Italy was not the major problem in Europe. For, despite all the Mussolini bravado, Italy remains weak, economically and as a military power.

As for Italy's vulnerability, Hector C. Bywater, London's authoritative naval critic, recently pointed out that each year Italy imports at least 26,000,000 tons of goods, of which 80 per cent come by sea. Except for a negligible proportion, they could not arrive by any other route. These imports represent practically the minimum on which the country could exist, for the standard of living of the bulk of Italy's population is so frugal, even in peace time, that it could hardly be reduced in war.

Her peace-time imports of coal, oil and iron are far below the quantity that would be needed in war. Figures quoted here of her current imports understate Italy's emergency requirements. From this continent she draws 2,000,000 tons of cereals, cotton, copper, zinc, oil; from South America 2,000,000 tons of cereals, coffee, sugar, wool and frozen meat; from Northern Europe, 12,000,000 tons of iron and coal. Practically all of these supplies must pass through the Straits of Gibraltar. From the Black Sea come millions of tons of wheat and oil, depending on free navigation of the Dardanelles. From India, Australia and the Far East are derived 1,200,000 tons of cereals, fats, jute, cotton, wool and tin, which must pass through the Suez Canal. Closure of one or more of these sea routes would speedily result in an actual shortage of Italy's essential supplies. Without the unrestricted use of the Suez, she would be isolated from her new empire in East Africa.

Grant Dexter of the Winnipeg Free Press has been attending the navy and army lectures in London on British policy and strategy. He reports Italian naval strength is not taken seriously, but Italian airplanes are. "These planes could pretty well close the Mediterranean to cargo boats. Actually, British naval strategy wipes out the Mediterranean as a commercial route during a war with Italy. Britain could still send her cargo vessels over other routes to all parts of the world. On the other hand, Britain would have Italy bottled up in the Mediterranean. Poor air resources, heavy imports are vital to Italy. Under these circumstances she cannot be permanently dangerous."

CHAMBERLAIN'S STRANGE ARGUMENT

From Ottawa Journal
Mr. Chamberlain says Count Grandi has told him that Italy wants "wide" conversations embracing recognition of the conquest of Ethiopia, and adds: "Formal recognition of the Ethiopian conquest can only be morally justified if it be found an essential factor in a general appeasement." It is a strange argument from a British Prime Minister, one that can be justified or explained only on the assumption of the existence of some desperate situation of which outsiders know little. Yet Mr. Chamberlain says that there have been no threats from Italy, no "now or never" ultimatum.

Almost as remarkable as Mr. Chamberlain's statements were some of his omissions. What of Austria? What of Czechoslovakia? What of Hitler's demand for the return of Germany's colonies? Hitler, in his Sunday speech, the most militant of his career, did not admit of possible compromise. His words were not those of the head of a state expecting or even hoping for appeasement. His goal was Germany's place back in the sun; a Germany with dominion over all Germanic peoples on the Reich's eastern frontier.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

CANADIAN CREDO

THE Canadian Forum, which is well worthy of the better reviews in the United States, has attempted to set down the basic beliefs of the average Canadian, and its study has been so painstaking and so scientific that one cannot improve on it.

In the realm of the Arts, the Canadian credo is as follows: All artists are immoral. No local artist should be recognized or encouraged until he has made a name in some foreign country. The Great Canadian Novel will deal with the United Empire Loyalists, the building of the railroads or the development of the Great Northwest. Censorship is rightly based on morality, not on artistic value. "Anthony Adverse" and "Gone With the Wind" weigh several pounds and are therefore masterpieces.

On Morals and Customs the Canadian believes: God meant Sunday to be dull. If a man wants to drink beer, it is better that he should be made to do so in a crowded, badly-lighted and poorly aired room (and in British Columbia, it should be added, it is considered immoral if he eats anything with his drink). It is wicked to play fan-tan or shoot craps, but fun to play the stock market or bet on a horse race. There is something inherently immoral about the hours after midnight.

The civic beliefs of the Canadian are as follows: All Canadian cities are free of the graft and corruption which is ruining the United States. All other professional sports may be, and probably are, fixed, but not hockey. All major crimes are committed by imported gangsters.

On the international outlook the Canadian believes that: Hollywood is an immoral place. All New Yorkers of any importance keep at least one mistress. There must be something, after all, in fortune-telling, tea-reading and graphology. Most unemployed men would not accept work if it were offered to them. The English stage abounds in actresses, the American stage in chorus girls. The Canadian temperament is not adaptable to Communism, Socialism or Fascism.

GIVING UP

WELL, said the little girl from next door, "I'm giving up for Lent."

"What's Lent?" said her brother.

"If you were a Christian you'd know," said she.

"Well, I lent my roller skates to George and I gave them up because I never got them back again."

"Oh, you're just trying to be smart, that's all, since you got into first primer," said she.

"You shouldn't make fun of holy things," she added with a look of piety.

"Holy smoke," said he with a sneer of contempt.

"Pay no attention to him," said she. "He is ignorant."

"Is that so?" said he with some heat.

"Ignorant, eh? I know my seven-times table and you don't."

"Pooh," said she. "I forgot the seven-times table long ago and my eight-times."

I'm on the 12-times now. Anyways, I'm giving up for Lent. I'm giving up potatoes, because they make you too fat. I heard on the radio that Carol Lombard has given up potatoes. It makes you beautiful and gives you sex appeal."

"You're just a girl," said he with disgust.

She ignored that. "I'm giving up potatoes for Lent," she repeated. "In Lent you should ought to give up things because it's Christian. Anyways, I don't like potatoes, they're nasty, but they always make me eat them. I'm giving them up for Lent."

This her brother considered at length and eventually said: "I'm giving up for Lent, too. I'm going to give up 'rithmetic."

TEST OF LIBERALISM

THE Canadian Government recently disallowed a strange collection of legislation passed by the unhappy and misguided Legislature of Alberta, and the Supreme Court has just upheld this right of disallowance.

A group of the sane people of Quebec have petitioned the Canadian Government to disallow the Quebec padlock law, which completely defies all the intentions of the British North America Act, and is the most fascistic piece of legislation in force in the British Empire.

The Canadian Government disallowed the cock-eyed Alberta legislation which struck at the financial structure and the existing economic order of this country. Alberta's members in the House of Commons are all in opposition.

Will the Canadian Government disallow the Quebec legislation, which strikes at the freedom of Canadian people, the ordinary fundamental rights of citizens? Quebec members of Parliament are virtually all Liberals.

If the Canadian Government does not disallow the Quebec padlock law, in common decency it should not continue to call itself Liberal.

"WHY SADIST?"

JAMES Butterfield in Vancouver Province IT MAKES FRONT PAGE NEWS THAT a well-connected young man in England has been flogged for theft even "after a spirited public protest headed by George Bernard Shaw," about sadists and flagellants. By the side of this news there is word from Baltimore about a chap who got twenty lashes for beating his wife up—also with details of the infliction.

The mere fact that it is possible to raise public outcry about the matter shows plainly how much that punishment is feared; if it is feared it is effective and deterrent. The thought that a coarser type of felon may be beaten but not the son of a more gentle family and for the same crime is bizarre.

If you say: "Let us do away with all flogging" you would possibly have an arguable case. But if you say: "Let us flog Bill Sykes but not that handsome but irresponsible young man," then you have no case whatever.

La Pointe Era At Ottawa Seen Drawing to Close

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA.

AN IMPRESSIVE and not undramatic era—the era of La Pointe, Cardin, and Rinfret—is seen by Parliament Hill's corps of observers as drawing to a close in the ever-picturesque realm of Quebec politics.

Before another general election comes—unless the assured prognostications issuing these days from high Liberal circles are completely in error—the powerful triumvirate which has dominated the federal picture in French-speaking Canada for more than two decades now will have ceased to be a factor in the Quebec picture. Its members will have gone to the reward to which their long labors in the field of statesmanship entitle them. They will have become ambassadors, justices of the Supreme Court of their province, justices in scarlet and ermine of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The most attractive prospect facing any of the three, possibly, is that which authoritative rumor declares to be in preparation for Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Secretary of State. The understanding is that Canada is to expand its diplomatic service by opening an embassy in Brussels, Belgium, and that Mr. Rinfret is to be the first Minister-Plenipotentiary. The post will carry, of course, the same salary and allowances as go with the legations already existing, which means a total of approximately $25,000 annually. While at first glance this may seem a lavish sum, practical experience has proven that it is little enough to meet the demands for expenditure which diplomats face.

The elevation of Mr. Rinfret is viewed in prospect by the whole of Parliament, regardless of party lines, as a merited move. Particularly is the post for which he is said to be designated looked upon as singularly appropriate. For few individuals in the entire House of Commons are better qualified for diplomatic service than the Secretary of State. A dignified charm of personality he adds the factor of outstanding ability. That the duties of Minister to Belgium will be carried out by him both acceptably and well is taken for granted in federal circles.

Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, according to a similarly well-authenticated rumor, is to become a member of the Supreme Court of Canada, while Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, who has been the organizing genius of federal Liberalism in Quebec for the last 20 years, is said to be slated for appointment to the Supreme Court of the province.

As in the case of Mr. Rinfret, the appointment of Lapointe and Cardin to high public offices will command the general approval of Parliament regardless of party considerations. Both ministers are highly respected, not alone for their high standard of integrity, but for their impressive and likeable personalities as well. They are conceded to have the mature balance, the reasonable and sympathetic outlook, and the qualities of essential fairness which will make them definite adornments to the country's judiciary.

THE passing of the colorful and impressive Lapointe-Cardin-Rinfret triumvirate from the public stage will be widely regretted on Parliament Hill, despite the fact that the distinguished Liberal warriors are conceded to have earned their release from the arena of partisan strife, while continuing their public services. It is doubtful if any political party has ever had a battery of such able campaigners in a single province as the Quebec ministers have constituted. They are true platform giants—Mr. Lapointe physically as well as figuratively—and their facility is approximately equal whether orating in the French or the English languages. That their ultimate successors may be less colorful, less able and less picturesque is recognized on Parliament Hill as not only easily possible, but also as largely inevitable.

SEES PLOT TO FRENCHIFY US

To the Editor:—I wish to protest against certain actions of the C.B.C. It is most presumptuous and a direct insult, that in an English-speaking province we are compelled to listen to French announcements. Did the people of this province ask for this barrage of French-Canadian propaganda? Is this what we must pay $2.50 for? Where will this encroachment end? I have all respect for the French people, but projecting their language into the radio air is only going to cause grave discord.

PASTEURIZATION VS. RAW MILK

To the Editor:—The present trend seems to be toward pasteurization. For the last 50 years raw milk has held sway, but it appears, at the present the health authorities and the medical profession are pretty near unanimous as to pasteurization for public safety. Victoria has been particularly favored in its milk supply. The quality of raw milk would be hard to beat in Canada.

By buying raw milk, you are assured of good, clean, keeping milk, which your late medical officer recommended. But, says he, pasteurize it before using. The general pasteurizers throughout Canada have to take milk from 101 sources and very often of as many ages and qualities. Not so good. Now, if you could have your milk pasteurized on the farm, direct from the cow, from some known source (maybe your present milkman), how nice it would be.

Pasteurization is coming, and the dairymen will have to face it as well as the public.

JAPANESE BOYCOTT

To the Editor:—In furtherance of a movement gathering momentum in England and the United States, and keenly supported by the national executive of the League of Nations Society in Canada, a meeting of a prospective peace council has been arranged for Friday, March 11, at 7.45 p.m. in the Y.W.C.A. building, to consider a boycott upon Japanese goods and, if approved, to prepare a practical program.

Dr. H. Cassidy will be one of the speakers. Would you help with your presence and counsel? H. WYATT.

Acting Hon. Sec. League of Nations Society, Victoria.

DISAPPROVES NOEL COWARD PLAY

To the Editor:—Regarding the play, "Hands Across the Sea," by Noel Coward, which was given first place in the Drama Festival recently. I fail to see the cultural benefit derived from the study and presentation of a play which makes comedy of tragedy. How can one best save youth in these difficult times? Certainly not by endorsing cocktail indulgence, lurid language, and an utter disrespect of age, which an applauding audience in the first place did. If this is a "true to life" play, there is no need to await war to end culture. The end is—

MR. BENNETT

From St. Catharines Standard

Historical item from the "25 years ago" column of the Ottawa Journal:

Mr. R. B. Bennett of Calgary, an infrequent speaker in Parliament, gave the House a rare treat when he contributed to the navy debate. He was in great form. The Journal reporter observed, and he had "a brisk, clean-cut delivery that hits the atmosphere of a parliamentary debate like a gust of fresh air from his adopted prairies."

To which in paraphrase might be added: Age cannot wither nor custom stale his infinite variety.

Reports reaching Victoria from Rootes Ltd. of London, who are world-wide distributors of these cars, state they are forging ahead in popularity in every country in the world, and this has been a definite factor in the rapid upbuilding of the British motor car industry. The motoring public accept them because they afford luxurious riding comfort exceptionally smart appearance and lowest possible operating cost. Because of their fine construction and advanced engineering it is claimed that these British cars will show a lower depreciation with years of use.

Princesses Learn To Swim

Queen Mary Takes Granddaughters To British Museum

LONDON—Queen Mary is continuing her project of taking her two little granddaughters, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, to places of interest in and around London. They have already visited the Tower and the Royal Mint and this week they were taken to see the London Museum.

The two little girls very much enjoyed playing with the large collection of historic toys which are housed in a big room at the top of the museum. They took a ventriloquist's dummy out of one of the cases, and Princess Margaret worked its head and limbs and made its eyes roll, while her sister kept up a running commentary. Queen Mary was much amused at this impromptu entertainment.

The proudest man in the museum that afternoon was the member of the staff deputed to walk round with a chair for Princess Margaret to stand on where the showcases were too high for her to see properly.

Princess Elizabeth, by the way, is very proud of a new accomplishment. She has swum a whole length of the swimming-bath at the Bath Club where she and her sister have been having regular lessons. The Queen drove unexpectedly to the club one morning this week and watched the princess swim the length "all by herself."

The princesses are showing an increased interest in their geography lessons since they have started using a new rug in their car. It is of grey fur with a navy blue back. But the back is the most interesting part, for on it, embroidered in bright yellow, is an outline map of Australia, showing the different states in the Commonwealth.

Married On Winning "Sweep"

Because her father won $30,000 in a sixpenny football pool, Miss Dora Levy of Hford, Essex, had a $1,000 wedding recently.

She and her fiancé, who earned £2.10 a week as a shoe salesman, had little prospect of getting married for a long time when her family had this unexpected windfall, and her share was about £7,000. She wore a white satin wedding dress which cost £30, and the guests drank £100 worth of champagne.

Two pretty 19-year-old London society girls will win £250 and £120 respectively if they do not drink, smoke or bet during the next two years.

They are Miss Joan Allison, daughter of George Allison, a prominent football manager, and the Hon. Ferilith Kenworthy, daughter of Lord Strabolgi. Miss Kenworthy's father made the same bet with her three brothers, but her elder brother has already broken his "promise" and lost his £120.

The Women's Association of Metropolitan Church held their monthly meeting Friday afternoon, with a good attendance. After the opening exercises, letters of appreciation were ordered sent to the various organizations who so kindly assisted with the annual banquet in February. Plans were formulated for a Father-and-Son supper for March 29; also a "bring and buy" tea, to be held the afternoon of March 17. The treasurer's report was very satisfactory; several bills were ordered paid, and $75 was given the official board. It was decided to hold the

The procession started at 1.30 and lasted two and a quarter hours. The lion and its retinue of page boys, armed guards and maidens of honor formed a column a full block in length, with 60 Chinese men and 30 children in the march, and 32 Chinese girls in their national dress, and 24 Canadian women taking up a collection along the way.

Before a number of buildings, David Spencer Ltd., the Y.M.C.A., the Public Library, the Dominion Hotel, the City Hall and the Hudson's Bay Company, the lion did a special dance, bowing three times in honor of the office.

Yesterday the lion made the round of Chinatown, where money for the relief fund was hung in the doorways of Chinese business houses in the traditional manner.

Mr. Hope said this morning the committee of the Chinese Benevolent Association, the Chinese Freemasons, and the Chinese National Salvation Bureau was well satisfied with the result of the canvass. He expressed the committee's gratitude to Canadians for their sympathy for sufferers in the war zone.

The proceeds of the procession will be forwarded directly to the relief committee in Hong Kong established by Madame Soong, wife of the Chinese finance minister. A large consignment of medical supplies has already been shipped to China by the local committee.

Former Belle Dies In Poverty

Ex-New York Beauty—Was Working At Relief Sewing

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—A belle of the gay 90's and once toasted as "the most photographed girl in New York," Evelyn Granville died here penniless.

The identity of the lame, 66-year-old former actress, known to fellow workers in a Works Progress Administration sewing room as Mrs. Evelyn G. Scott, was disclosed today by friends.

Newspaper clippings in her room at a boarding house told of the one-time glamour girl, a friend of Lillian Russell, "Diamond Jim" Brady and "Teddy" Roosevelt.

Tall, shapely and beautiful, she won the title of the "most photographed girl" during an engagement with the Casino company shortly after leaving Tony Pastor's, where Miss Russell was star.

She married John J. Scott of Pittsburgh in 1900. He died in 1916.

Crippled in a street car accident, she was forced from the theatre jobs and successively worked as a store clerk, a clerk in a county office and finally in a W.P.A. sewing room.

A stroke, resulting from an illness that began in December, caused her death in a hospital.

Tomlin, a rather shady antique dealer and competitor of Joe Quinney, and Mr. McGown succeeds in completely transforming himself into the rather mean, crafty character that the playwright makes of Tomlin. An outstanding feature of Mr. McGown's presentation of this part is his character make-up, which changes him from an affable, kindly personage to the somewhat despicable Sam Tomlin. Unaided by crepe or wig, the portrayal is a masterpiece in make-up, at which he excels. He was responsible for Harry Davis' wonderful make-up as the Bishop in "Birds of a Feather," the Little Theatre's successful entry in the recent Drama Festival, and his skill in this art will be demonstrated throughout the whole cast of "Quinneys."

CHINESE LION RAISES $2,500

Legendary Mask Carried in Procession to Obtain Funds For War Victims

The traditional Chinese lion mask was carried in a dance through the streets of Victoria on Saturday and Sunday—not in its usual role of marking joy at a festival, but to raise money for aid for the victims of the war in China.

The two days' processions—through the main streets of the city on Saturday and through Chinatown yesterday—realized $2,500, Joseph Hope reported this morning.

Thousands lined the streets along which the colorful procession progressed on Saturday, fascinated with the rhythm of

Electrical Refrigeration Improved

General Electric Predicts Record For Coming Year

Public Recognizes Many Advantages of Electric Refrigeration

With a 50 per cent increase in refrigerator business over the preceding year, the Canadian General Electric Co. is confident that 1938 will be a record year in domestic refrigeration sales. A dealer meeting was held here last evening in the Princess Louise Room, Empress Hotel, conducted jointly by A. E. Ormsby, refrigeration department, and H. C. Darroch, appliance department. Features of the 1938 new models were explained, and the advertising plans for the year were presented. According to officials of the company, the public has come to realize the many conveniences and economic advantages offered by an electric refrigerator. A refrigerator is no longer thought of as a luxury but is now universally recognized as a profitable investment, which pays dividends by eliminating food spoilage and at the same time protecting the health of the family.

LASTING BEAUTY

The 1938 General Electric refrigerators are styled for lasting beauty, with all the practical conveniences incorporated in their design. Although this year's models are built on exactly the same principle that has made them a household word for nearly a decade, they have been made larger, more streamlined, easier to clean, and operate at nearly half the cost of the older designs. The stainless steel freezer has been constructed for sanitation and to provide the maximum durability under all conditions. A quick ice cube tray provides faster freezing of cubes and easy removal, and the specially designed system of 12 freezing speeds makes fast or slow freezing exceptionally suitable for all conditions, providing for defrosting without interruption of refrigeration.

A Thriftometer tells at a glance if the foods are adequately protected, and enables the housewife to judge just the degree needed for various articles.

Sliding shelves are easily adjustable in height and bring all food within instant sight and reach, while a telescoping lower shelf slides back out of the way to make room for large fowl, watermelons and tall bottles. A vegetable drawer keeps green-stuffs crisp and garden-fresh for days.

EASY LATCH

A finger-tip latch on the large insulated door provides easy access to the bright new interior, which is illuminated as soon as the door opens.

The smart-looking, all-steel cabinets are styled for utility and lasting beauty. There is no wood in the entire unit, which is insulated with thermocast, a special heat-resisting and moisture-proof material. Textolite door strips and rubber gaskets which seal in the cold, absorb all food odors.

Years of experience has proven the General Electric refrigerator to be a safe and sanitary storehouse for all foods. It provides an abundance of ice cubes, delicious, cooled drinks, chilled salads and frozen desserts, which are impossible to prepare otherwise.

More than two and one half million home owners already enjoy the efficiency and economy of these units, and for many years have had matchless convenience unmarred by mechanical troubles.

Reason for the outstanding service offered in this make of refrigerator is the famous sealed-in-steel unit that was introduced 10 years ago and since then has revolutionized refrigeration costs and brought dependable, trouble-free automatic refrigeration within the reach of every home.

More than 20 per cent can be saved on food bills with this modern electric refrigerator. Quantities of food, formerly thought to be perishable, can be saved and the health of the entire family guarded.

Science has discovered that the only safe way to preserve food is in a temperature always below 50 degrees. This is carefully safeguarded in the G.E. refrigerator.

REFRIGERATOR HAS MANY USES

Every Season Finds a Use For Electric Refrigeration in the Home

Now is the time when an electric refrigerator will be in almost constant use.

While it is an appliance which is needed throughout the year, warm spring and summer days make many added calls upon it. The electric refrigerator these days should be stocked up for chilling salads and desserts, for cold meats, for fresh fruits and vegetables. Then, too, it is called upon for quantities of ice cubes and for cold drinks. Moreover, it is used for storing such things as cream sauces, refrigerator dough and salad dressings, in addition to the regular demands that are made upon it for the storing of milk, fish and meats of all kinds.

In buying an electric refrigerator, the purchaser should take into account the number in the family, as well as other considerations, says an executive of the refrigeration division, Canadian General Electric Company.

"A small-sized electric refrigerator may be large enough for two people, but the larger family will find it profitable to buy a larger model," he says. "A refrigerator which has ample space for the storing of food will permit the housewife to buy in larger quantities and thus save money on timely food bargains. This means, too, that she will not be compelled to make as many trips to market. Thus she saves money and time."

Refrigerators Have Long Life

Little Attention Needed During Years of Trouble-free Service

If automobiles were operated as continuously as refrigerators a driver would have to "turn in" his car every four months. This fact was pointed out by H. C. Darroch, appliance manager of the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., in Vancouver, who compared the operating mileage of automobiles and refrigerators.

An average refrigerator operates approximately eight hours a day at high speed. If an automobile was driven for the same length of time at 40 miles an hour it would have traveled 40,000 miles, the average life of a car, in about four months.

NO OIL FOR YEARS

Continuing this comparison during a period of five years, 15 cars would have been traded in, and these cars would have been oiled and greased 600 times, while the G.E. refrigerator mechanism never needs attention, a lifetime supply of oil having been sealed in at the factory.

Many local General Electric refrigerators have been in operation for 10 years without repairs or servicing.

ROYAL OAK

A splendid variety concert was held in the parish hall last week under the auspices of St. Michael's A.Y.P.A. Canon S. J. Wickens acted as chairman. Those who took part were as follows: Mrs. K. W. Foster, R. E. Mackie, J. S. Humphries, R. M. McIntosh, Pat Hamblett, Noreen Rankin, Anita Polyblank, Rita Huntley, Pat Hoole, Herbert Hodgson, Jim Amos, Robert Marcom, Miss Margaret Pringle, Barbara Hoole, Jim Smith and Miss Lois Hamblett. Moving pictures of Coronation and Mount Rainier were shown by D. Flin-toff.

Aid Sought For China Sufferers

At a meeting of the Committee for Medical Aid for China held Saturday evening the final count from ticket selling and collections at the "China Strikes Back" meeting showed a return of $325.

It was reported that old clothes suitable for war refugees were being sent to the office at 1426 Government Street, also donations of old linen and cotton goods for bandages, as well as cash offerings.

The next meeting was arranged for Thursday evening and the members were urged to secure more workers from those who are interested in helping China. Anyone wishing to co-operate is asked to phone E 4725 or call at 1426 Government Street between 2 and 5 o'clock.

Bubble drinking fountains for the home are being produced.

BUILD OR REMODEL IS OFTEN PROBLEM

Does it pay to remodel instead of build?

It depends upon what you have to begin with and what you want the result to be; and whether your objective is to save money or simply create a home with individuality and charm.

If you acquire the dreamed-of piece of property and the house already on it fails to measure all the way up, there is only one answer: Make the house as perfect as the setting! The doing requires imagination rather than exorbitant expenditure.

SUNSHINE INN DEMAND RISES

Increase Noted in Number of Meals Served During February

An increase in the number of meals applied for at the Sunshine Inn during February is noted in the monthly report of Alderman Burges J. Gadsden, manager. During the 28 days of February 5,449 meals were provided, as against 5,023 during the 31 days of January.

The report notes that since arrangements for co-operating

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of cholera but have no cholera or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

with the Family Welfare Association last summer in relation to children coming to the inn for meals it has been found that very few children have applied for food.

The number of meals applied for by women are largely reduced also.

In a recent survey of the men receiving aid at the inn it was found that of 90 applicants for meals, the average age was 50½ years, the oldest being 76 years and the youngest 19 years.

Among 90 men there were 56 who had no trade or calling and all but a few were classed as unemployable at regular work due to age.

Of the 90 there were 75 residents either of Victoria or on Vancouver Island, the remaining 15 being transients. The average length of residence for the 75 was found to have been 19½ years in Victoria or district. Twenty-seven were ex-servicemen, three of whom had very small pensions. Two were applying for old-age pensions.

From January 1 to February 28 the inn has benefited by the receipt of $129.75 in voluntary donations, including $50 realized from the recital by the Victoria Schubert Club on February 10 in aid of Sunshine Inn, at the Shrine Auditorium.

The voluntary donations along with aid received from the Community Chest have provided against further deficits of cash having to be reported.

The cost of operation per person per meal in February was approximately 9 cents (7 cents in cash and 2 cents in commodities that were donated by personal donors).

Value of commodities donated in February, including coal and $30 of foodstuffs donated through the Schubert Club recital was $81.04.

"We wish to convey our deepest appreciation to the friends and donors and give assurance of the worthy service that the inn has been doing in a quiet and efficient manner," said Ald. Gadsden.

KINSMEN HEAR LEAGUE PLEA

An appeal for support of the League of Nations featured a brief address delivered at a meeting of the Kinsmen Club in Spencer's dining-room on Thursday evening by Capt. Elmore C. Philpott, M.C.

In the course of the address, entitled "Personalities I have Known," Capt. Philpott expressed his belief that although there might be another great conflict the League would eventually bring lasting peace to the world.

Herbert Sabiston, president at the meeting, Victor Gilbert was welcomed on his return to membership. Guests included George Currie, former president of the Saskatoon Kinsmen Club; Robert Schultz and Harold Bourne.

Wales' St. David No Mythical Saint

By R. THOMAS

NOT ALL COUNTRIES have a patron saint of which they can be fully proud. Some are completely legendary, associated with dragons and other mythical creatures. No so, Saint David (Dewi Sant). The patron saint of Wales is a historical character, with a full and active life, characterized by achievement and praiseworthy accomplishments. He lived in the times of warfare and invasion which were then going on, and had been for a century and a half previously. This period for the Welsh people is equal to anything known in human history for bravery and tenacity of purpose to retain their homes against barbaric hordes. To those who admire heroic attempts of small nations to defend their freedom in times past or even now, may here reflect that it took these invaders over 150 years to advance 120 miles from Kent westwards, or an average of four-fifths of a mile per year.

It was towards the end of this period that our patron saint flourished as Bishop of Menevia, now called St. David's, in Pembrokeshire. This location was convenient for his contact with the many churches which he had also founded in Ireland. He was an energetic bishop, preaching, teaching, journeying and organizing with little respite. At his passing on March 1, 601 A.D., he was mourned by poor and rich alike.

In spite of the impression gained from a study of Welsh history that the Welsh have been warlike, they are essentially lovers of peace, and are in this day leaders in peace movements. Given security of home life, freedom to follow their love of music and the arts is all they expect, and will fight to defend if interfered with.

An example of their inherent love of peace is the Goodwill Day movement which has grown to such amazing proportions throughout the world. This movement started as a spontaneous message to the youth of the world from the youth of Wales, to think and work for peace. It had no inspiration from adults and was entirely the work of Welsh school children. The response from children of other nations was immediate, and has grown to such proportions as to prevent a fair description in these remarks. However, remember to tune in on May 15, Goodwill Day—Dydd Ewyllys '38—for the Welsh children's message. They will not fail you. One of their slogans is "Gyda'r ffydd hono a all symad mynyddoedd fe newid y byd gan ein meddyliaid." "With the faith that can remove mountains, our thoughts will change the world."

Freedom of home life, security of employment, development of art, music and other desirable pursuits, as seen in festivals and Eisteddfodau, must and will come, and Wales, in spite of her size, will be found doing more than her share in bringing these things to pass. Let us close with these lines from John Addington Symonds:

"These things shall be—a loftier race Than e'er the world hath known shall rise With 'ame of freedom in their souls And light of knowledge in their eyes."

Music Festival Syllabus Ready

Lieut.-Governor to Be Patron of Annual Contests May 3 to 7

The committee of the Victoria Musical Festival Association announces the Victoria festival will be held from May 3 to 7 inclusive. Copies of the syllabus can be obtained from any of the music houses, from the Hudson's Bay Company and David Spencer Ltd.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. E. W. Hamber have consented to be honorary patrons of the association.

This year's festival, it is hoped, will be one of outstanding success, as already entries have been assured from Hinson Memorial Church Choir of Portland, under the direction of J. Sykes, and from the Monday Musical Club of that city. These musical organizations, it is expected, will also furnish soloists and small groups. Inquiries have also been received from Walla Walla, Wash., and from a well-known Tacoma teacher of music, Professor Nurdling. Up-island groups have also signified their intention of returning again this year.

The city of Victoria has donated a medallion for the open class similar to that of last year, and the committee is endeavoring to arrange a special evening for this class alone, due to its popularity and to further the interest of the festival and its continued success.

Inquiries were made concerning bagpipe quartettes. Entries, however, could not be arranged for as the syllabus had gone to press.

For the information of those interested in elocution, copies of the test-pieces are available at the festival office, 833 Yates Street.

The success of the Victoria Musical Festival will depend largely on the support given by the music lovers of the city and district, its music teachers, musical organizations, vocalists, instrumentalists and all who are genuinely interested in developing and stimulating a love for and appreciation of music and allied arts," the festival committee says.

THE word is making the rounds of the fight circles that Henry Armstrong, world featherweight champion, is one smart fellow. He proved it when he would not accept a match with Barney Ross, the welterweight ruler—just yet.

"Yes, I know," Henry murmurs. "I'm getting too big for the featherweight division... probably will be a full-fledged lightweight before long. Lou Ambers? Sure, I'll be all ready and set for him soon. But I'll think twice before taking on Ross. I guess a few people are a little too ambitious on my behalf."

Smart boy, Henry, smart boy. That old saw about a good big man being able to whip a good little man has been borne out time and again.

Of course there have been exceptions. Ruby Bob Fitzsimmons was really a middleweight when he was knocking over the best heavyweights in the business. Mickey Walker reached out from the middleweight division to beat several heavyweights, and Abe Attell, as a feather, was not at all averse to belting the stuffing out of a lightweight. But generally it isn't being done. Armstrong's decision to stick around awhile and take on a little more tonnage before bumping into Ross, is a wise one.

Every so often, one of the divisions in the fight game finds itself jammed full of top-notchers. That might be amended, however, to read "every division except the heavyweight." It has been a long, very long time since there were more than three high-class heavies around at the same moment. Now it is the middleweights who are hogging the spotlight. There is little doubt but what that division has the niftiest bunch of belters in any class today.

Champion Freddie Steele, despite his knockout at the hands of Fred Apostoli, the erstwhile San Francisco bellhop, is every inch a fighting man and crowd pleaser. Out of comparative obscurity has come Young Corbett III, former welterweight king, who, after twice retiring, and at the age of 33, when most fighters are all washed up and ready for the cleaners, put the skids under Apostoli.

Apostoli, himself, is regarded as the uncrowned king of the middleweights, and still rates as number one challenger to Steele's title. Marcel Thil of France, who dropped his European title to Apostoli last summer, is keeping his eye peeled for a spot to enter the picture again. Glen Lee, the rugged Nebraska, is still on the way up, as are Solly Kreiger and Popeye Woods, a couple of New York lads; Al Hostak of Seattle, and Carmen Barth of Cleveland, although the latter may enter the light heavyweight lists.

In other words, the promoters do not have to cast about too frantically to scare up a good middleweight brawl when they want one.

Stagehand Sets Record in Handicap Win

Stagehand, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, came back and won the $100,000 handicap on Saturday in the track record-breaking time of 2:01.35 for the mile and quarter. C. S. Howard's Seabiscuit, the favorite, was second in a camera finish. Pompoon was third and an outsider, Gosum, fourth. The horse nearest the camera in the above picture is Stagehand. It is the camera angle that gives the impression he came second.

Stagehand Made Derby Favorite

Record-breaking Victory in Santa Anita Handicap Puts Sande Colt to Fore

LOS ANGELES — Barring mishap between now and May, Stagehand, acclaimed today as another Man O'War, stands as the most dangerous candidate in the historic Kentucky Derby.

Stagehand's smashing victory in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap, in which he stepped out of his swaddling clothes and whipped some of the best tried and seasoned stake horses in the land, was done in amazing time—a time faster than any winner ever ran in the Kentucky Derby.

Looking back through the history of the Blue Grass classic, the closest time to that made by Stagehand was set in 1931 by Twenty Grand.

Stagehand ran the mile and a quarter Saturday in two minutes one and three-fifths seconds. Twenty Grand's time over the same distance was two minutes one and four-fifths seconds, and that was the fastest ever made in the Derby as far back as 1896, when the derby distance was cut to a mile and a quarter.

Stagehand, a frisky, strapping bay colt, broke the track record here in nosing out the great handicap champion, of 1937, Seabiscuit, last Saturday. Azucar hung up the mark in 1935 when he won the big handicap with a time of two minutes two and a fifth seconds.

A purse of $91,450 went to the winner.

Earl Sande, who sent Stagehand to win the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby February 22 and then defied custom and critics by saddling him to victory in the handicap, believes he has a "wonder horse."

POMPOON WELL BACK

Jerome H. Louchheim's Pompoon, rated as "the horse Seabiscuit would have to beat," ran two lengths or more back of Seabiscuit, and Gosum, a slightly regarded candidate owned by still another Howard, Nelson A. Howard, ran fourth.

Top row, A. A. Baroni's winner of the classic in 1936, apparently broke down in the gruelling struggle and his racing days were believed ended.

The Sande entry of Stagehand and Seabiscuit proved the public right, even if it was more or less disregarded by the handi-cappers, and the two opened on the pari-mutuel board at scant two-to-one favorites. Stagehand's victory was worth $9.20, $3.80 and $3.00 across the board, while Seabiscuit brought $3.40 and $2.80. Pompoon paid $3.40. A total of $406,994 was bet on the big race, and the day's total at the end of six races amounted to $1,247,182.

Here is the way they finished back of Gosum: 5th, Aneroid; 6th, Star Shadow; 7th, Seabiscuit; 8th, War Fellow; 9th, Woodberry; 10th, Frexo; 11th, Wichee; 12th, Amor Brujo; (Turn to Page 12, Col. 4)

May Finish Season As Runners-up

Defeat Rangers 3 to 1 to Creep Within Point of Canadiens; Boston Beaten

WEEK-END SCORES
Toronto 2, Maroons 0.
Chicago 7, Maroons 1.
Toronto 6, Canadiens 3.
Americans 3, Rangers 1.
Detroit 4, Boston 3.

Fighting most of the season to avoid elimination, New York Americans don't seem capable of stopping. After they tied down a playoff spot they might have eased up to rest their tired veterans. But now those same oldsters seem bent on carrying Red Dutton's team right into a second-place playoff.

Last night Hooley Smith and Neil Stewart scored goals that gave Amerks a 3 to 1 victory over New York Rangers before 14,200 New York fans. As Toronto Maple Leafs were beating Canadiens 6 to 3 in Montreal, the Amerk victory carried them within half a game of Habitués, runners-up to Leafs in the National Hockey League's Canadian division. And they have two more games than Canadiens to play before the schedule ends March 20.

Before beating Canadiens, Leafs had shut out Montreal Maroons 2 to 0 at Toronto Saturday night, making it almost impossible for either Canadiens or Americans to catch them. Maroons also took a beating last night from Chicago Black Hawks 7 to 1 in Chicago.

Hawks needed the win as Detroit Red Wings beat Boston Bruins 4 to 3 in Detroit, keeping them within two games of Hawks, who hold third place in the American section. Even with a game in hand Wings seem to have little chance to catch Hawks and win an opportunity of defending their world title.

Americans' winning goal against Rangers was Stewart's 28th National League counter and increased his chances of making it an even 300 before the playoffs. He has seven games in which to do it.

Smith scored the tying goal in the first period after Lynn Patrick had put Rangers ahead. A fluke goal by Joe Jerwa in the third added to the Amerk margin.

Rangers may have lost the services of defenceman Art Coulter for some time in the game. He suffered a severe charley horse, and it is feared he may be out of action for the rest of the season. He was injured in the first period and aggravated the condition by playing in the second.

A crowd of 10,500 saw Leafs take Canadiens in the first Sunday game played in Montreal for two years. The big turnout probably will influence Montreal hockey players to stage more Sunday games next season.

The Canadian defence was wide open for two periods, Leafs scoring twice in the first period and four times in the second. Gordon Drillon, league scoring leader, got two Leafs goals, and Syl Apps, Harvey Jackson, Buzz Boll and Bob Davidson the others. Pit Leyne, Toe Blake and Don Wilson scored for Canadiens, Wilson getting his first N.H.L. goal.

RUGGED GAME

The Maroon-Leaf game was a rugged affair that brought out 16 penalties, four of them majors and two misconducts. Bob Davidson and Baldy Northcott got two of the majors in the second period for fighting, and Red Horner and Paul Runge picked up the others in the third for swinging their sticks.

Jimmy Ward and Horner drew the misconduct penalties for arguing with the referees about the Davidson and Northcott majors. Both goals came in the first period with Apps and Geo. Parsons scoring them.

The seven goals Hawks scored over Maroons was a new high for them this season. Their best previous mark was six. Earl Seibert and Muel March got a pair each and Paul Thompson, Cully Dahlstrom and Johnny Gutselig picked up the others. Bob Gracie scored for Maroons.

The standout performer of the Detroit-Bruin clash was Herbie Lewis, who scored three goals while playing centre on a line with Ron Hudson and Syd Howe. He usually plays left wing. Howe got the other Detroit marker and Milt Schmidt, with two, and Ray Gettiffe were the Boston marksmen.

MT. TOLMIE AND METS NOW EVEN

Churchmen Win 3 to 2 to Extend Merchants' League Playoff to Third Game

A third meeting between Mount Tolmie and Metropolitans was made necessary to decide the fate of the New Method Laundry Cup in the Merchants' Football League Saturday, when the churchmen evened up: the best-of-three series with a narrow 3 to 2 triumph at Gladstone Avenue. Mt. Tolmie won the first game 4 to 2.

Mets were quicker on the ball and made use of their early opportunities. They were leading 3 to 0 halfway through the final session.

However, the Tolmie lads were not content to sit back and let the Mets walk over them, and soon after opposing side's third goal hit their stride and forced the churchmen to the limit, piling in two goals before the final whistle sounded. Saunders, Mets' goalie, played a sterling game between the posts during the Mt. Tolmie team's closing bid.

Fuller, McCracken and Bousfield scored the Mets' goals, while De Girolama and Williams netted for the losers.

P. J. Woodley refereed.

Metropolitans — Saunders, R. Fuller, L. Fuller, Ball, Southern, Clague, Sutton, Jordan, McCracken, Coates, Bousfield and Carter.
Mount Tolmie — Harper, Bisen, Cullen, Jack, Carson, Ellis, Williams, Hayward, Kitching, DeGirolama, Stofer and Maxwell.

Victoria Cagers Beaten Again By Denver 52 to 38 in Tough Battle

Denver Safeways are still world amateur basketball champions and holders of the Jacob France Trophy, but the United States stars knew they had been through a real ball game at the High School gym Saturday night in defeating the Dominos 52 to 38 for their second straight victory and the series. The Safeways captured the opening engagement Friday night 74 to 32.

At the conclusion of Saturday's tussle Alderman Archie Willis presented the handsome trophy to Jack McCracken, captain of the Denver squad. The Safeways, accompanied by their coach, Ev Shelton, left for Seattle yesterday afternoon, en route home. Yesterday at noon they were luncheon guests of the staff of the local Safeway Stores and were later taken for a drive.

Desperate after the one-sided beating they suffered in the opening game the Dominos went out Saturday night to make a fight of it and they were successful. The locals led by Chuck Chapman, who played a grand defensive game, and in addition contributed eight points, checked the Safeways off their feet. As in the first game the tremendous height advantage of the Denver boys stood them in good stead and they held control of the ball and snaggd the majority of the rebounds.

Great credit must be paid little Bert Davies, hustling forward of the Dominos. The red-headed, pint-sized forward just about worked himself into a state of exhaustion attempting to break up the Denver plays and defensively was a tower of strength to the locals.

Long-range shooting of the Dominos was much improved over Friday night and they were able to drop through 17 field goals. Denver got only 21. The visitors canned 10 of their 13 foul shots while the Dominos could make only four out of 14 and those were all scored by lanky Hank Rowe.

The game was rough and tough all the way with plenty of body contact being witnessed. The players were not intentionally rough but with the stiff checking it was impossible to keep away from fouls and 26 were called, 13 on each club. Denver lost the services of McCracken 10 minutes before the end.

Paced by their giant centre Bob Gruenig, who found the hoop for 16 points, the Safeways forged ahead 9 to 4 after six minutes of play. At the 10-minute mark it was 14 to 7 and the half-time whistle found the Americans leading 27 to 16.

With the opening of the second half the Dominos rallied and at one stage were within eight points of their opponents, 34 to 26. But that was as close as they ever got with the Safeways putting on the pressure to draw ahead and finish with a 14-point margin.

During the 40 minutes' play the Denver team used all their 10 men.
Busher Jackson was the high scorer for the Dominos with six field baskets, one in the first half and the remainder in the final 20 minutes' play.

Defeat Rangers 3 to 1 to Creep Within Point of Canadiens; Boston Beaten

WEEK-END SCORES

Chicago 7, Maroons 1.
Toronto 6, Canadiens 3.
Americans 3, Rangers 1.
Detroit 4, Boston 3.

Fighting most of the season to avoid elimination, New York Americans don't seem capable of stopping. After they tied down a playoff spot they might have eased up to rest their tired veterans. But now those same oldsters seem bent on carrying Red Dutton's team right into a second-place playoff.

Last night Hooley Smith and Neil Stewart scored goals that gave Amerks a 3 to 1 victory over New York Rangers before 14,200 New York fans. As Toronto Maple Leafs were beating Canadiens 6 to 3 in Montreal, the Amerk victory carried them within half a game of Habitués, runners-up to Leafs in the National Hockey League's Canadian division. And they have two more games than Canadiens to play before the schedule ends March 20.

Before beating Canadiens, Leafs had shut out Montreal Maroons 2 to 0 at Toronto Saturday night, making it almost impossible for either Canadiens or Americans to catch them. Maroons also took a beating last night from Chicago Black Hawks 7 to 1 in Chicago.

Army Advances To Meet Wests

Garrison Gains Second Round of Cup Soccer With
3 to 1 Win Over City

Garrison advanced to meet Victoria West in the second round of the McGavin Cup series in the week-end senior soccer circuit Saturday afternoon when they eliminated Victoria City at the Athletic Park with a 3 to 1 decision. The impending clash between the soldiers and the Wests, the two most powerful factions in the league, should prove to be one of the best of the current season. They are billed to hook up on March 19.

Although the weather was fine there was only a sparse attendance of the die-hards of football on hand for Saturday's only first division engagement.

The Garrison dominated play for most of the match, but their goalie, Elliott, was given some anxious moments for 20 minutes during the middle portion of the first half, when the City staged their most determined offensive on the soldiers' net, which went totally unrewarded. In the last stanza, with the exception of periodical breakaways by the City—which incidentally did not carry much sting—the Work Point Barracks team did practically all the pressing.

Wally Rowe, City netminder, did admirably well between the sticks, in spite of the fact three shots got past him to sag the help. He was in danger all the time, but he kept on his toes and cleared away many of the frequent thrusts from the opposing side, and sometimes, when the pressure was high, he turned off some great saves.

TAKE LEAD
The soldiers ran up a 2 to 0 lead in the first half, Cook beating the goalie on McIlvenny's cross from the wing after four minutes, and Stewart, centre-forward, grounding the ball hard into the corner of the net 22 minutes later to account for the second goal.

The last half was two-thirds finished when Cook beat Rowe to end the soldiers' scoring of the game. Prior to the goal the Garrison had spent many minutes hammering at the City end. Two minutes later the City forwards got away on one of their rushes, three front-line men beating fullback Wilkinson, and Cliff Robbins finishing it up by lacing the leather into the hem—the marker that saved them from a shutout.

B.C. WOMEN ARE CHAMPS

Margaret Taylor and Vess
O'Shea Capture Canadian
Doubles Crown

QUEBEC — Badminton held forth prospects of new prominence today for a flock of young Canadian stars, particularly 19-year-old Johnny Samis of Vancouver, new national champion.

Hard-hitting Johnny had just captured the singles title at the Dominion championships Saturday when the Canadian Badminton Association approved of the principle of tournaments open to professionals and amateurs. The radical move will likely bring further publicity and popularity to the game. It means exhibitions bringing together the world's best players are not far distant.

Samis, winner of the consolation event in 1937, didn't lose a set in succeeding Vancouver's Dick Birch to the crown, mixing tremendous power with amazingly delicate drop shots. In the final he defeated Jimmy Forsythe of Winnipeg, 15-2, 15-3, when Forsythe tried to avoid Samis's strong backhand and immediately brought out the versatility of the youngster's forehand.

Women's titles went to established stars. Mrs. W. R. Walton Jr. of Toronto took the singles over Mrs. Isobel Bryson Perceval of Ottawa, 11-4, 11-4. Margaret Taylor and Vess O'Shea of Vancouver scored in doubles over the 1935 and 1936 champions, Margaret and Ruth Robertson of Ottawa, 8-15, 14-15, 15-8. Last year Miss O'Shea won in doubles with Mrs. Anna Kier Patrick, the singles titlist who did not come east to defend. Jack Sibbalds and Rod Phelan of Toronto won the men's doubles, defeating Samis and Pentland, 15-11, 15-8.

VANCOUVER — Westerns put down a last-half bid by Stacys Saturday night, to register a 51 to 38 victory in the third game of the best-of-three semi-final Intercity Basketball League series, and won the right to advance into the finals with the Canadian champion University of British Columbia Thunderbirds.

Westerns won the first game of the series here last Saturday night, 45 to 38, and Stacys took the second, Wednesday, in overtime, 61 to 55.

The series with thunderbirds will open here Wednesday and the winner will battle Victoria Dominos for the British Columbia crown and the right to represent the province in the Dominion senior playoffs.

CAMILLI SOLD TO BROOKLYN

Dodgers Lay Out $60,000 to Phillies For First Baseman

BROOKLYN — On the strength of the high-priced purchase of Dolph Camilli, it begins to appear that Larry MacPhail may make something of Brooklyn Dodgers after all.

Not only did MacPhail swing a deal yesterday which brings to Brooklyn a left-hand pull-hitter, who should be a "natural" for the Ebbetts Field right field target, but the most astonishing part about the whole thing is the fact the Dodgers, handed the Phillies a reported $60,000 for Camilli.

That figure for the purchase of one player shows more than anything else that MacPhail is definitely "Mr. Big" in the Dodger organization. When he took over the vice-presidency of the outfit a few months ago, many said he would run his head into a stone wall trying to buy the current Brooklyn set-up.

In Camilli, a 29-year-old waller, the Dodgers acquired a player who may conceivably mean the difference between a poor sixth-place club and a fifth-place outfit in the first division.

TRAIL TAKES HOCKEY TITLE

Defeats Kimberley 8 to 0 to Capture B.C. Championship

Trail Smoke Eaters are British Columbia senior hockey champions and considered by many the team to beat for the western berth in the Allan Cup final.

Smoke Eaters earned that rating by the ease with which they whipped Kimberley Dynamiters, 1936 Allan Cup winners and 1936 amateur champions a year ago. Trail completed the rout of Kimberley in three straight games with a 8 to 0 victory Saturday night at Trail. They won the first two games of the West Kootenay League final 6 to 0 and 9 to 3.

Trail must wait until March 16 for their next game. They meet either Calgary Rangers or Luskar Indians, who open the best-of-three Alberta final tonight at Mountain Park, 200 miles west of Edmonton.

Moosejaw Millers won the south Saskatchewan title, taking two of three games from Yorkton Terriers and are waiting for Saskatoon Quakers and Flin Flon Bombers to decide the northern representative.

Bombers took a 2 to 1 lead in the best-of-seven series when they defeated Clem Loughlin's Quakers 5 to 1 at Saskatoon Saturday. One game was tied and they play the fifth at Prince Albert tonight.

NAVY BLANKS SCOTS 9 TO 0

Gain Possession of Times
Cup in Senior B Rugby Final

The Navy senior B rugger moved into the British Columbia final in their division at MacDonald Park Saturday afternoon, handing the Canadian Scottish a 9 to 0 whitewashing on the lower field. The victory gave them possession of the handsome Times trophy.

The sailors did all their scoring in the second half. Two penalty kicks taken by Alex Ross gave the Navy fifteen a 6 to 0 lead and a fine try by Hibbert late in the session concluded the scoring.

The Scottish put up a game fight but the heavier Navy players had the edge throughout the play. Losing three players, who were ordered from the field by referee D'Arcy, the Scots were badly handicapped.

K. C. Drury, editor of the Times, kicked off.

Teams follow:
Canadian Scottish—De Macedo,

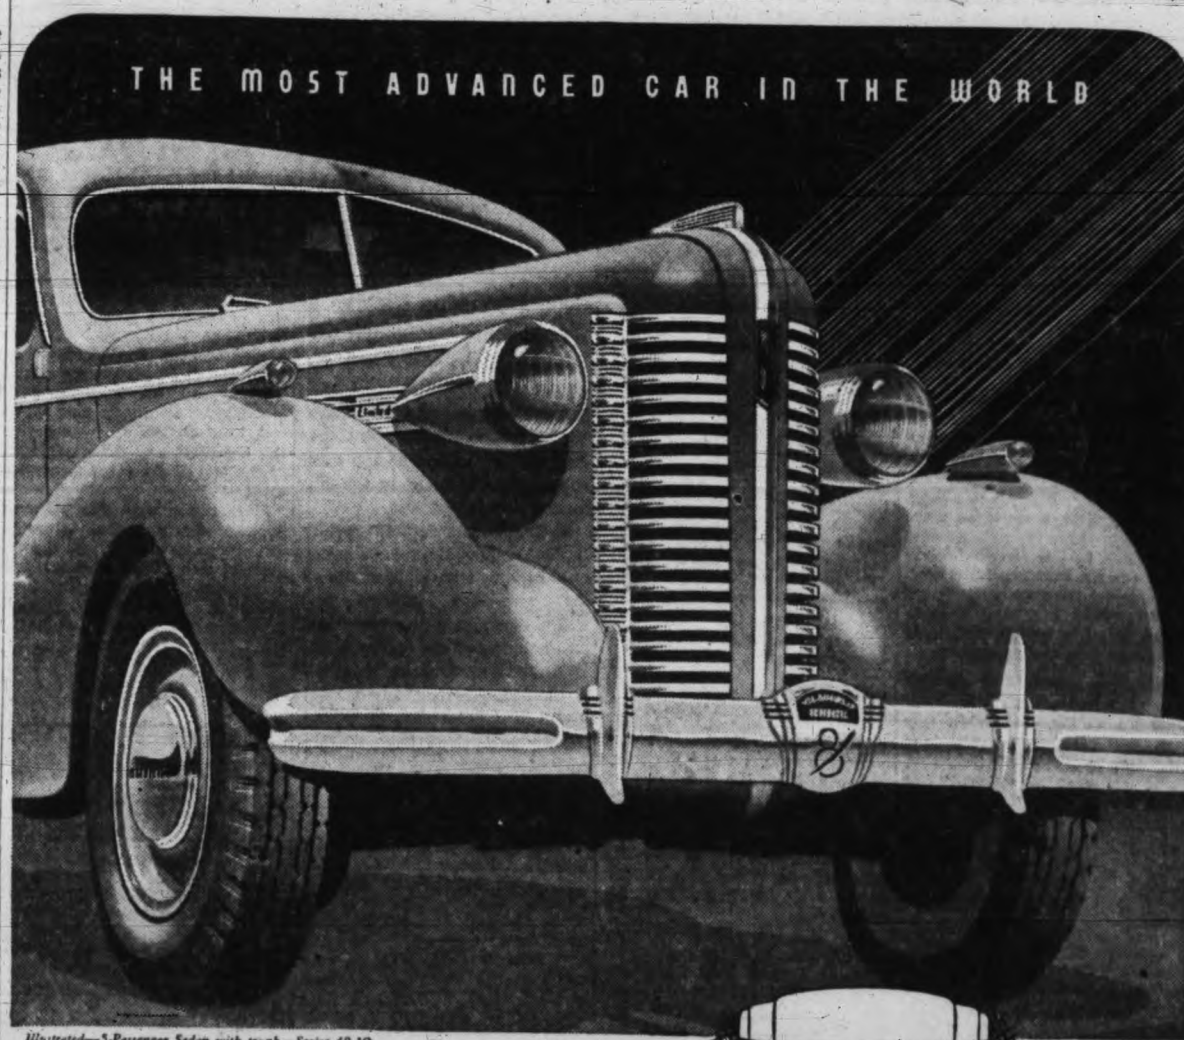

Knigh, Hamilton, A. Williams, Briggs, B. Martin, Edmunds, W. Williams, Coomber, S. Martin, Willard, Beck, Holyoak, Sugden and Wallace.

Navy—Geddes, Hibbert, Ross, Seiban, Down, McDonald, Butler, Conway, Buxton, McKeever, Applethorpe, Patrick, Miquelow, Young and Bigelow.

Man Burned As Oil Explodes

Arthur Wyman, 740 Johnson Street, in Hospital With Injuries

Arthur Wyman, 740 Johnson Street, was rushed to the Jubilee Hospital this afternoon suffering from severe burns caused by an explosion of a can of oil in his kitchen shortly before noon today.

With burns on the left side, face, chest and arms, caused by his clothing taking fire, Mr. Wyman was reported in serious condition but it was not believed critical.

Police were not called to the premises until nearly an hour after the explosion. Residents nearby rushed in and spent considerable time doing what they could assisting the injured man and endeavoring to locate a doctor before headquarters was called.

Constables Peris Atkinson and Arthur Rudge took Mr. Wyman to hospital in the police ambulance and Dr. A. D. Bechtel was summoned from headquarters.

Police said the explosion occurred while Mr. Wyman was cleaning his stove with coal oil. The oil ignited and quickly spread to the can standing nearby, the explosion igniting Mr. Wyman's clothing.

Driving, Gardening, Golfing and Fishing Enjoyed By Thousands

Thousands took advantage of the six hours and six minutes of sunshine yesterday for gardening, golfing, fishing and driving. The maximum temperature was 53 degrees. Though this did not approach a record, it was warm enough for many sun worshippers to start their summer tan.

Motorcyclists In Accidents

Three Persons on Two Machines Involved in Week-end Collisions

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in three week-end accidents reported to the city police.

W. G. Packford, 1715 Kings Road, a motorcyclist, and Miss Olive Fawcett, 1260 Hewlett Street, a passenger, were both taken to the Jubilee Hospital for medical examination after a collision with a car on Yates Street yesterday morning, shortly after midnight.

A police report stated the car was driven by Robert F. Richardson, 1124 Grant Street. Miss Fawcett suffered a shoulder injury and Mr. Packford was shaken up by the crash.

BUDGET TO PAY TAXES

A monthly instalment system of meeting tax payments has gained general support in Victoria, officials of the city collector's department indicated today.

The statement was made as total collection of currents and arrears were computed. Prepayments this year up to and including Saturday amount to $417,600 against $392,992 for the same period last year. While the increase amounting to $14,608 is less than it was at the end of February, it still shows a healthy outlook in view of the fact the levy this year is considerably below that of 1937.

In the arrears division collections were below those of last year, the current total being $32,922 as opposed to $36,349.

"Many home owners are making a regular practice of budgeting for monthly tax payments and the collections are coming in exceptionally well," George Okell, assessor-collector, reported today. "This department is particularly interested in the payments made by the homeowner since higher collection from the smaller taxpayers indicates a reduction in the amount of property we expect to revert," he added.

On the collection of both pre-pays and arrears, the city shows a net gain of $11,181 over last year to date.

John Charles Thomas Expresses His Delight at Being in Victoria

John Charles Thomas, one of the greatest male contemporary singers, whose glorious voice has thrilled countless thousands, arrived in Victoria early this afternoon from Seattle, went to the Empress Hotel, exclaimed "What a beautiful spot" as he looked out over the blue waters of the harbor, dazzling in brilliant sunshine and then asked where he could get a meal, for he said he was starving.

"I wish I had my wife with me here," he said. "It was our wedding anniversary Saturday, but she is in Palm Beach, Florida, and I'm in the northwest, the two extremities of this continent."

John Charles Thomas is a big, genial man, who looks as if he enjoys life and meeting people. "I'm just not interested in the movies," he said, replying to a question as to why Hollywood had not signed him up, as it has so many other great singers.

ENJOYS BROADCASTS

"I don't say I never will make a picture," he said, "but I'll have to become a lot more mercenary than I am now. Mostly I prefer to sing to people I can see, although I enjoy an occasional broadcast."

Mr. Thomas has one of the most previous living throats, but he does not believe in being over-fussy about it.

"Of course I smoke and drink in moderation," he said. "There are far worse things for the voice than smoking or drinking. Any thing is bad, if done in excess. Drafts are much worse for the voice—unless they are New York or Chicago drafts."

High in the affections of John Charles Thomas is his mother, whose lives, in the summer, in Baltimore and in the winter in Florida. His "good-night mother," at the end of his broadcasts have become famous.

"Once I didn't say it," he said, "and the telegrams and letters poured in, sympathizing with me in the loss of my mother."

Mr. Thomas makes his home on a yacht anchored at Easton, Maryland. He loves to sail boats, to fish and to play golf. One of the first questions he asked "when he reached the Empress was about the golf tournament. Then he made plans to go to Colwood this afternoon.

One is never through learning something new in the art of singing, Mr. Thomas said. He has to practice regularly and made arrangements to go over his program this afternoon with his accompanist, Carol Hollister, also a family residence, Niagara Street, one son, John Russel Pontifex, in Vancouver, three brothers, Norman, Warren and Stanley, in Adelaide.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 from the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home. Rev. Arthur de B. Owen will officiate and interment will be in the family plot at Colwood Burial Park. It is requested that no flowers be sent.

radio favorite, in readiness for his concert at the Royal Victoria Theatre tonight.

Although they have never seen him, Victorians feel they know John Charles Thomas intimately, because of his radio appearances. A few weeks ago hundreds in Victoria heard him sing the leading role, opposite Lily Pons, in Rossini's opera, "The Barber of Seville," from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York.

CITY PENSION PLAN DELAYED

Expect Action on Superannuation Issue Towards End of Month

Action on the scheme for superannuation of approximately 15 of the older city employees will be delayed until it can be taken up with plans for the reorganization of the Garbally Road yard, it was learned at the City Hall today.

Progress on the scheme has been retarded pending reception of reports from department heads dealing specifically with those over the superannuation age, and the issue is not expected to come before the council much before the end of this month.

Prior to its submission to the general city body, the plan will be discussed by the finance committee, which is expected to bring in recommendations covering its application.

Theft of an 18-foot sailboat from Armstrong's Wharf yesterday afternoon was reported to the city police by the owner, Herbert Brown, 37 Oswego Street.

OUTDOOR FILM AT THE PLAZA

"Trapped in the Alps" Is Exciting Picture With Fine English Cast

At the Plaza today a fine program is headed by "Trapped in the Alps," a really original and exciting crime story adapted from the successful London stage play. Anthony Bushell, Jane Baxter and Ronald Squire head a fine cast and an outstanding performance is given by Margaret Rutherford, a well-known stage artist who is a comparative newcomer to the screen, in the role of a wily old woman crook, member of a gang of forgers.

Most of the action takes place in the Austrian Tyrol and H. Sokal, who was responsible for that fine film, "The White Hell of Pitz Palu," and supervised the Alpine scenes in this film, has obtained some of the most beautiful and exciting shots seen in any film to date.

Mady Correll and Warren Williams are the stars in "Midnight Madonna," which is also on the program.

"LIMELIGHT" AT THE COLUMBIA

Anna Neagle Has Leading Role in Story of London's Theatre Life

Anna Neagle throws herself with terrific zest into her starring role of the chorus-girl, Marjorie, in "Limelight," the new Herbert Wilcox production, now at the Columbia Theatre.

This is not surprising, as the film transports her back to her own early struggles as a chorus girl, and to the same happy-go-lucky atmosphere of London's theatreland

FIRE LOSS IN OTTAWA $70,000

Store Damaged and Equipment of Several Militia Units Burned

OTTAWA (CP) — Fire today caused damage estimated at $70,000 to a departmental store and quarters of several militia units housed in the Regal Building at the corner of Queen and O'Connor Streets here.

H. G. Munro, secretary-treasurer of the store, estimated $50,000 damage was done to the stock and $10,000 to the building. Others estimated $10,000 was caused in the quarters of the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, Third Division Signallers, Ottawa Field Battery, First Field Battery, 25th Field Battery and 52nd Field Battery, Canadian Artillery.

HUNGERFORD WOULD LIKE VICTORIA ON NATIONAL AIRWAYS

tricia Bay where the old railway ferry slip was located.

Mr. Hungerford said that according to Trans-Canada Airlines' present plans, the mail-and-express service from Moncton, N.B., to Vancouver would be in operation about the end of the year.

Commenting on the recent bad luck with weather in the inauguration of the Winnipeg-Vancouver section, he said:

"We believe it is better to take a little more time and observe every precaution to prevent mishaps."

Remarking that the present flights were in the nature of tests, he said the full schedule would involve night flying.

It was hoped to have the Winnipeg-Vancouver service on permanent schedule for mail and express by May 1.

Three or four months later the service would be extended east to Toronto and Montreal, with a further extension to Moncton by the end of the year.

Carrying passengers would depend, he said, on the development of the service.

"We do not intend to carry passengers until we are reasonably satisfied that we have the service in the best possible shape," he added.

Mr. Hungerford stressed that in building up the air service—one of the greatest undertakings ever attempted in so short a time—Trans-Canada was paying every attention to safety measures.

It was taking advantage of every scientific device and the most modern equipment to restrict hazard to an absolute minimum, with the latest developments in radio beacons, two-way radio and safety appliances.

It has 15 Lockheed-Electra machines, either delivered or contracted for. Those now in use are the 10-passenger class and others on order are H-14's, which have a greater total payload with more space for mail and express, as well as passengers.

"We expect the first of the H-14's shortly. They represent the fastest and best type of aircraft of which we have knowledge," he said.

The service will be flown entirely by Canadian pilots. The permanent staff of the line was made up of Canadians, but some technicians were brought from the United States temporarily to assist in building up the service," he said. Up to now there had been no instrument flying in Canada, and no one with the full experience to develop the service rapidly.

The 4,000 miles of airways, from Vancouver to Moncton, with side services to Lethbridge, Seattle and out of Toronto, will be classed as main air lines, he explained.

It was not intended to go into branch lines, which would be left to private companies. They could operate feeder services, just like railway branch lines.

Mr. Hungerford touched briefly on the agreement with the C.P.R. by which the new C.N.R. hotel in Vancouver will be opened in the first half of next year under the name of the Hotel Vancouver, with joint operation. The present C.P.R. hotel will be closed as a hotel.

He explained that the objective is to have the new hotel open in time for the heavy travel northward from the San Francisco fair. J. Schofield, chief C.N.R. architect, who is with Mr. Hungerford, has charge of the hotel project.

The Canadian National passenger travel to and on the Pacific Coast established a new record last year, and it was expected to at least hold to this level during 1938, with prospects of a considerable increase next year.

While it was early to make definite predictions about the grain crop on the prairies, he said that the precipitation of rain and snow since last August was substantially greater than the previous year, a very favorable condition. It depended now on the rains of the spring and early summer.

This morning Mr. Hungerford paid a courtesy call on Premier Pattullo at the Legislative Buildings and on Mayor McGavin at the City Hall.

This afternoon he played golf at Oak Bay. He will leave tonight for Vancouver, spending a day there before enjoining for the east, and will stop a day in Winnipeg. Accompanying the president are: R. J. Moffatt, director of the C.N.R.; A. E. Warren, vice-president at Winnipeg; G. H. Hair, regional counsel at Winnipeg; Walter S. Thompson, director of publicity for the C.N.R. and Trans-Canada Airlines, and Mr. Schofield.

EIGHT IN RUNNING TO SUCCEED BENNETT

Some speculated he would retain his Calgary West House of Commons seat till the end of the present Parliament, others that he would resign as soon as the Ottawa convention names his successor.

NAMES MENTIONED

Eight names were mentioned today by those who sought to see one clearly in the political crystal. They were:

Hon. Robert J. Manion, M.D., former Minister of Railways and Canals.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate and former Prime Minister.

Senator A. D. McRae of Vancouver, who organized the party for the 1930 election.

Hon. W. D. Horridge, Mr. Bennett's brother-in-law and former Canadian minister to the United States.

M. A. MacPherson, former Saskatchewan Attorney-General and Treasurer.

Hon. J. Earl Lawson, M.P. for South York, Ont., and former National Revenue Minister.

Hon. W. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader and former M.P.

Denton Massey, M.P. for Toronto-Greenwood.

SUPPORT FOR THREE

A partial survey of party adherents indicated heavy support would be forthcoming for Dr. Manion, Mr. MacPherson and Senator Meighen. It was said, however, that Senator Meighen, a former Prime Minister, probably would not accept the post.

The conference instructed Mr. Bennett to appoint a national organizer. He was said to have mentioned the name of R. K. Finlayson, his secretary, who has announced he will return to his Winnipeg home, where he formerly conducted a law practice.

It was a hushed gathering that listened Saturday as its leader announced his impending retirement. He said:

"All medical men whom I have consulted at home and abroad agreed that the action of my heart is impaired, and that the condition which was thought to be temporary when I was ill in 1935 has become permanent. They also agree that this condition necessarily involves drastic limitation upon my activities."

BENNETT BUSY

OTTAWA (CP) — Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, who Saturday announced his intention to retire as national leader of the Conservative Party, was at his office in the Parliament Buildings as usual today, prepared to continue his tasks until the present session of Parliament ends.

Shown a news report from London containing editorial comment on his retirement and reviving an old rumor that he might eventually settle down in England, Mr. Bennett said it was "very interesting" but not a matter he desired to discuss at the present time.

MAY CROSS ATLANTIC

LONDON (CP) — Retirement of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett as Canadian Conservative leader was prominently announced in all British newspapers today, but as yet only the Yorkshire Post (Conservative) has editorially reviewed his career.

"The times (the depression years) worked against Mr. Bennett as against President Hoover," the Yorkshire Post editorial said.

From time to time rumoring little paragraphs have appeared in the British press of Mr. Bennett's eventual retirement to a country estate in England, ranging from Stratford-on-Avon in the Midlands to Sussex in the south. Occasionally these rumors have been denied, but a majority of the British people would not be surprised to learn he had settled here before long.

Forty Thefts In Terminal City

VANCOUVER (CP) — Police records today showed more than 40 burglaries over the week-end, with 18 of them committed Sunday. In almost every instance the loot taken was insignificant. Homes and stores were objects of the raids.

DIVIDENDS

Dominion Glass Company Limited, preferred, $1.75 quarterly, payable April 1 to shareholders of record March 15.

Two-point Losses In General Retreat

NEW YORK (AP) — A general retreat got under way today in today's stock market, with leaders falling back fractions to more than 2 points.

While dealings were rather quiet throughout, volume picked up a bit from recent sessions. Transfers approximated 700,000 shares.

Brokers found news, market-wise, no more disheartening than in the past several weeks. In fact, there were occasional items more pleasing than otherwise, but these only served as buoying factors in isolated cases.

Some selling for March 15 income tax payments was apparent, but the fact was again stressed that "important" offerings of stocks was absent.

The bond market slipped to lower ground today, with losses of 1 to around 3 points common in the list of railroad issues.

Baltimore & Ohio issues met new pressure. The refunding 6s, refunding 5s of '95 and 4s of '48 were down 2 points or more. Others prominent in the decline were Northern Pacific 5s of '47, Southern Pacific refunding 4s of '55 and Southern Railway general 6s.

Down Jones averages closed today as follows:

Thirty Industrials — 125.38, off 2.29.

Twenty rails — 28.05, off 0.70.

Twenty utilities — 19.11, off 0.24.

Forty bonds — 90.06, off 0.39.

Great Britain's Chinese City

Hongkong: This large city is on an island just off the coast of southern China. In one way it is a British city, in another way a Chinese city. We may say, "Great Britain owns it, but the Chinese live in it."

Hongkong wood carvers.

There are, to be sure, about 8,000 persons of British birth or descent here, but more than 95 per cent of the inhabitants are Chinese.

Not quite a century ago, Great Britain obtained the island. At that time it was the home of only 5,000 people.

A city of about 400,000 people has grown up on the island. Its official name, "Victoria," is not used very often. Almost every one calls the city, as well as the island, "Hongkong." The name also has the spelling "Hong Kong."

"Hongkong" means "Sweet-smelling harbor." The name does not fit well right now, but long ago there were no doubt great stretches of wild flowers on the island. China has the old nickname of "Flower Kingdom."

Walking along the streets of Hongkong, I had to watch my step lest I should bump into someone. The sidewalks are crowded in the central parts of the city, and the streets are thick with rickshaws, motor cars and people on foot. There is not enough space on the sidewalks for all the people walking about.

Shops of many kinds have goods on display. Hongkong is noted as a good place for tourists to buy jade, lacework and carved ivory. Across the bay, in the city of Kowloon, I visited half a dozen shops where carved chests are made and sold. In two or three shops, work was going on while I was watching.

"How long did it take you to make this chest?" I asked a man in one place. He told me it had taken him three weeks, and that the price was $26 in Chinese money - about eight dollars in our money.

In both Hongkong and Kowloon the people have the custom of hanging clothes above the sidewalks after washing them. The clothes are held up by bamboo poles which extend from balconies. While going "around town," I saw dozens of apartment buildings with clothing hanging out. The buildings were three or four stories high, and people of every floor had their "wash" in plain view.

Why Men Resent Marriage

Dorothy Dix

Don't Want to Go into Bondage

WHAT DO MOST MEN resent about matrimony? Well, there are plenty of places where the domestic yoke galls a man and gives him a pain in the neck, but I think the thing he dislikes most about marriage is the sense it gives him of being bound.

Somehow the knowledge that he is no longer free to roam awakens the wanderlust in the bosom of the most plodding, unadventurous, sit-by-the-fire man. It is the call of the wild that is all the more alluring because he knows that he has locked himself up in his doghouse, tight and fast, and cannot break out and run with the pack again.

No matter how happy a marriage is, it is still bondage. No matter how beautiful a home is, it is still a cage. No matter how good a wife is, or how much her husband loves her, she is still his keeper. The married man has forfeited his personal liberty. He can no longer come and go as he pleases. He cannot choose his friends. He cannot dress as he pleases. He cannot even eat what he likes.

He has to punch the home time clock on the dot or else the little woman wants to know what about it. And if he stays downtown to play poker with the boys, or takes an old girl friend out to lunch he has to perjure his soul inventing a lie that will get by with his wife. It isn't that the average man wants to do anything wild and outbreaking. It is just the feeling that he is bound hand and foot, and can't do as he likes that gets upon his nerves.

The next thing that men resent about matrimony is having to support their families instead of spending their money upon themselves and their own pleasures. Of course, men will rise and with one voice deny this, but it is true, nevertheless, as is amply proved by the fact that the great majority of husbands row over the household bills and make the first of the month an ordeal almost as much to be dreaded as the Judgment Day by their wives.

This is but nature, for few of us are so altruistic that we really enjoy sacrificing ourselves for others, and so it is no wonder that it irks a man to have to buy his wife a new evening dress when he needs an overcoat, or that he turns sour when he has to give up a fishing trip to have little Johnny's adenoids out. If only wives and children could grow feathers and live on air there wouldn't be so many grumpy married men making wisecracks about marriage.

It may be said that whether men are married or single they spend most of the money they make on women anyway, so what difference does it make to them whether they spend it on paying for certified milk for the baby, or opening champagne for a chorus girl? But it does make a difference. Lots of it. Because in one case a man feels that he is getting a run for his money and in the other case it just goes for a plain duty and there is no kick in that. That is why many a man who was a generous lover makes a tightwad husband.

The next thing that men resent in marriage is the nagging of their wives. A grown-up man who has sufficient intelligence to make a living and win a respectable place in the world, simply loathes having his wife treat him as if he were an imbecile child who had not sense enough to know how to cross a street without being told to watch out for the automobiles, or judgment enough to be able to pick out his own food. Also, it makes every man fighting mad to have his wife harp forever on the same old theme and never to be able to say a thing once and let it rest at that.

It is the never-ending fault-finding, the ceaseless interference with personal habits and tastes, the eternal "why didn't you do this?" "why did you do that?" that turns marriage into purgatory for innumerable men. A man is more afraid of his wife's tongue than he is of anything else on earth and if only she won't nag he will forgive every other sin in the category.

And still another thing that men resent in marriage is its dullness. Its monotony. Its lack of pep. That wasn't what they had bargained for when they took their wives on as life partners. They thought that the pretty little fishers of men who had hooked them would at least continue to cut bait after they were married, and they get the shock of their lives when they find out that their wives seem to think that a woman's duty to make herself pleasant and entertaining to her husband ends at the altar. It is being bored at home and resentful over little baby-faced girls having hooked them in the confidence game of marriage that starts most men on the road that leads to divorce.

Attempt Being Made Again To Raise Ship

Expectations That Beulah Will Be Floated on High Tide Tomorrow Morning

Experienced salvage operators worked steadily yesterday and this morning to prepare the temperamental Beulah for another salvage attempt, and then, their work done, left the actual raising of the ship to nature.

Low tide was early this afternoon and it was necessary to have all manual work done by the time the water commenced flowing in, alongside the Ogden Point piers.

High tide will be tomorrow morning at 5.45 and expectation at the docks today was that the ship would be raised, after lying on the bottom since last in December, when she arrived from sea, after battling big combers which badly crippled her.

Wires have been placed taut under the vessel's bottom, tanks have been put under decks and this morning the pumps were set to work. Air bubbles were breaking on the surface near the ship's funnels.

Big scows are over the Beulah and elaborate salvage equipment was working smoothly in anticipation of the ship coming up on the high tide that will start to flow in late this afternoon.

"We have done just about everything we could," said W. G. Jordan, superintendent of Pacific Salvage operations for the Pacific Salvage Company. "It is up to nature now."

If the Beulah comes up in the morning she will be towed into the beach off the Pilot Station. There she will be further raised and plans made to repair her.

There will be a six-foot tide tomorrow, so the ship can come up only that amount.

Members of the ship's Polynesian crew watched the men at work this morning and eagerly hoped their ship would be brought to the surface and speedily repaired for they are anxious to sail away to their South Sea Island homes.

Around the Docks

The coming week-end will be a busy one at the Ocean Docks, with three trans-Pacific liners due in port.

Thursday evening Ss. Niagara, of the Canadian-Australasian Line, is expected from Australia and New Zealand, via Suva and Honolulu.

Saturday morning Ss. Empress of Asia is due from the Orient and that afternoon Ss. President McKinley will sail for the Far East.

Danish freighter Stjerneborg is expected at Ogden Point tomorrow to load a consignment of lumber for the United Kingdom, King Brothers were advised this morning.

On Friday the British freighter Ramon de Larrinaga is expected. Ss. Anglo Indian, in service for the Vancouver-St. Lawrence Line, is nearing port from Halifax and will arrive shortly.

The Royal Mail Line's new motorship Lochavon, for service between the United Kingdom and the Pacific Northwest, was launched at Glasgow last Thursday. A. P. Moffat, local agent, was advised this morning. She will join the other "Loch" ships in regular service between the British Isles and Victoria. She is 485 feet in length, with a beam of 65 feet and is registered at 8,950 gross tons. She will be equipped with 200,000 cubic feet of refrigerator space and will have accommodation for 12 passengers. She will arrive here late this year.

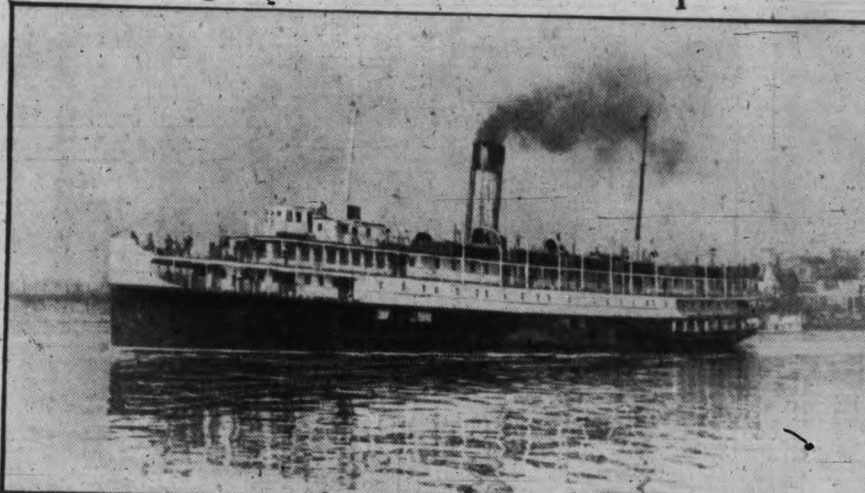

George von Epercom of Bergen, Norway, managing director of the Westfall, Larsen Lines, which operate 30 ships in various world trade routes, is expected to visit the Pacific Northwest this week and will come here to see local shipping men.

U.S. Navy Will Build Dirigible

Government Earmarks $8,000,000 For Airship and New Coast Patrol

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States navy is getting ready to spend $8,000,000 on experimental air and surface craft which some officials eye dubiously, but nevertheless are eager to try.

That sum is earmarked in the billion-dollar fleet expansion bill to build a dirigible and swift "mystery" coast patrol boats recently developed by foreign powers.

Concentrating on replacement of ageing battleship and other large craft, the navy heretofore has turned its back on the possibilities of a "mosquito" fleet. Officers have called such craft ill-suited to American defence needs.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, declared in a statement last night, however, that testimony before the House of Representatives naval committee, left no doubt the expansion program contemplated something more than national defence.

"Every navy of any nation is always for national defence," said Borah, senior Republican member of the Senate foreign relations committee.

"Every war in these times is for defence. The World War was for defence on both sides. Japan is now, according to her statements, conducting a war against China in self-defence.

"I do not believe that this huge spending program can be justified upon any reasonable conception of national defence," Borah added, declaring it was "a long step toward world bankruptcy and possibly toward war."

The bill probably will come before the House late this week.

New Pick-a-back Plane Coming

LONDON (CP)—Unofficial announcement was made today that Imperial Airways' plane Mercury, upper unit of the Mayo composite craft, will visit Canada and possibly the United States this summer, participating with the Empire flying boats in this year's experiments in postal service across the Atlantic.

Taking off in mid-air from the lower unit of the pick-a-back arrangement, the Mercury will fly from Foyles, Ireland, to Boston, Nfld., Montreal and possibly New York.

The mid-air takeoff is to facilitate the carrying of a heavy load, the ship being carried off the water by a powerful lower unit. The return journey will be made with less weight to enable the Mercury to take off under her own power.

MACKENZIE TELLS OF DEFENCE NEEDS

EDMONTON (CP)—Because of faith in the principle of collective security and consequent disarmament "Britain came close to disaster," Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, told Edmonton members of the Canadian Legion at an informal meeting yesterday.

"Canada has practically no adequate defence to protect her coasts and trade routes," said the minister. "There is the factor of British protection and we have a strong neighbor to the south. Yet we do not want to sponge on other countries for our defence."

There are nearly 700 islands and islets in the Bahamas group, but only 30 are inhabited.

WOMAN DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. J. Kent of Vancouver Killed on Road in Washington State

MOUNT VERNON, Wash. (AP)—A Vancouver, B.C., woman was killed and four of her five companions injured Sunday night when an automobile hit a rock eight miles south of here and overturned, spilling them on the highway.

Mrs. Mary Kent, about 30, lost her life. Her husband, James, 35, automobile dealer, who was driving, is believed to have suffered internal hurts.

Charles Anderson, 50, had a leg and three ribs broken. Miss Edith Loree, 30, and Mrs. John Nash, were taken to a hospital suffering from shock. Nash, 31, was not hurt.

The party was returning home from a week-end at Seattle.

DIAMOND RUSH NOT JUSTIFIED

WASHINGTON — "Recent diamond finds at Cherokee Flats, near Camino, Cal., do not justify any rush to the area in search of easily-gotten glittering stones," says Dr. R. A. Foshag, curator of minerals at the National Museum here. "We receive at the museum one diamond from the Cherokee Flats region every three or four years. Perhaps 200 diamonds have been found in California since the gold rush days, the largest reported being about seven carats."

The Cherokee Flats diamonds, explains Dr. Foshag, are perfectly good stones, their rarity, rather than any defect in them, making the placer gold deposits unprofitable as diamond mines. Near the creeks is a dike of serpentine rock from which the diamonds are believed to have been freed by weathering during many thousands of years. Working this dike for diamonds would cost much more in labor than it could ever produce in diamonds, he believes.

Diamonds are commercially produced from a mine in Arkansas, and have been found in glacial drift in sizes up to 20 carats in a number of states, among them being Wisconsin, Illinois and Kentucky. Reported diamonds from other states often turn out to be other, less-valuable stones, such as sapphires or quartz crystals.

F. N. Raines Of Vancouver Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—A funeral service will be held here Tuesday afternoon for the late Frank Norman Raines. After three days' illness, the 83-year-old Vancouver lawyer died Saturday.
Mr. Raines was born in Port Perry, Ont., and graduated from the University of Toronto in 1888. He began his law career in Uxbridge, Ont., where he lived until 1911. Then he came to Vancouver. He was president of the Vancouver Conservative Association some years ago.

Almost all highway accidents result from a combination of causes, and they can be avoided only by an all-round safety program, a highway engineer points out.

Do You Know WHAT HAPPENED TODAY ?
If you do—you've been reading the newspapers.
So has everyone else, who is hungry for news . . . and that means everybody, for no one wants to miss "the paper," in case they miss something of interest.
That is the main reason why newspapers are the leading media for advertisers. They bring news, when it is news, into every home in the community. They are full of fresh interest every day, and the advertiser's message reaches his customers when their minds are alert for new information.
Advertise in the newspapers, when you want to arouse keen interest in your products.

A MESSAGE TO MEN

Eat FISH FOR FITNESS
PHYSICAL FITNESS . . . that rare old "up-and-at-em" feeling . . . depends a lot on what you eat.
So whisper to the lady of the house: "How about having Fish a couple of times a week?" If she is surprised, tell her about the wonderful health value of Fish. Tell her it contains proteins, vitamins, mineral salts and other elements that promote glowing health and a clear complexion.
Surprise the little lady by telling her that there are over 60 kinds of Canadian Food Fish and Shellfish . . . that these can be served in more than 100 different recipes that her skilful touch will make into a new dinner-time thrill!
Tell her . . . if you want to . . . that fish costs less, because it contains more nourishment in every pennyworth than any other food. And you can hint . . . just hint, mind you . . . that she might send for the new FREE 52-page book of Fish Recipes prepared by the Department of Fisheries . . . handle this part diplomatically.
